PNEUMONIA DEATH CAUSE DEFENSE SAYS

Try to Show Martin Tabert
Did Not Die as a Result of Lashing in Camp

WHIPPING LAWFUL?

Defense Holds He Got Requisite Number of Lashes;
State Witnesses Differ

ASSAIL PROSECUTION
Lake City, Fla., June 28.—Defense offers circulars "distributed by Grimsom" argument over admissibility. Wade said "Grimsom stays in background to spread propaganda to aid civil action for damages" said such tactics might be admissible in North Dakota where L. W. Wade dominates. Court rules pamphlet admissible.

Lake City, Fla., June 28.—Efforts by the state to show that "excess" flogging given Martin Tabert, young North Dakotan, by Thomas W. Higginbotham, was directly responsible for Tabert's death was vigorously fought today when the trial of the former whipping boss of the Putnam Lumber Company was resumed.

Higginbotham is under indictment for murder in connection with Tabert's death.

The defense made no effort to deny that Tabert was whipped by Higginbotham but will attempt to show that the prisoner was whipped in accordance with prison regulations, which specify ten lashes. The contention of the defense is that Tabert's death was caused primarily by pneumonia.

Witnesses have already testified that he was given 56 to 87 lashes by Higginbotham.

Charge Witness School

Charges that the state conducted a school for instructing its witnesses under "the manipulations" of G. Grimsom, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, were made by the defense.

The defense alleged that funds "sent down here from North Dakota" were being generously distributed among the state's witnesses and also charged that Mr. Grimsom freely distributed pamphlets among the witnesses as to findings, as the result of an investigation conducted by him into the death of Tabert.

Lengthy arguments by the defense to have certain testimony stricken from the record brought about the charges of schooling the state's witnesses. No action was taken by Judge M. A. McMullen, presiding.

Whipping Described

A. B. Shivers, of Doerun, Georgia, another former convict guard, said he was in charge of a squad of convicts in which Tabert was a member and gave a dramatic account of the whipping he said Higginbotham gave Tabert.

The witness said he saw Tabert whipped on the night of January 27, 1922. He got out of the witness chair and showed how Higginbotham "treated" the strap by rubbing the end in water and sand. More than 20 licks were given the youth, he said, on the first whipping. According to the witness, Tabert staggered to his feet and back into line. Later he asked Higginbotham for permission to recover a bottle of medicine lost during the whipping. As Tabert staggered to where the bottle lay, Shivers said, Higginbotham struck him again and made him lie down on his stomach and the lash was again applied while Higginbotham held the lad down by placing his foot on his head.

State's Attorneys Clash

Sharp personal clashes between State's Attorney James B. Kelly and Leonidas Wade, chief counsel for the defense, came during the early proceedings here today in the trial of Thos. W. Higginbotham, convict whipping boss charged with the murder of Martin Tabert.

The clash became heated as the state's attorney arose in objection to a question asked by Graham Ward, a state witness, by Mr. Wade during cross examination.

Mr. Kelley charged the defense with "stabbing me in the back. His questioning of the witness was an insult to me, and I asked the court for protection that I may do my duty without being insulted."

The question to which objection was taken was whether Ward did not expect to receive $5,000 from the state to testify in the state.

Judge Halts Argument

Judge McMullen halted the argument and ordered the examination to proceed but the tilt was resumed when the defense charged that it was going to show that the witness was prompted to testify because of propaganda "sent down here from North Dakota" showing a "large cash fund" in the hands of Grimsom, assistant attorney general, of North Dakota.

The defense further contended "that outside influence was taking an active part in the case, that Mr. Grimsom himself was active in coaching, writing, sending telegram, and

MISSOURI SLOPE CROPS REPORTED IN EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD SHAPE AS COMPARED TO REST OF NO. DAKOTA

Rains in Last Week Relieved
Drouth Damage, But Not
Until Permanent Damage
Had Been Done to Crops in Some Sections, Weekly Agricultural College Report Declares.

Fargo, N. D., June 28.—Drouth conditions which prevailed over a good share of the state were broken by the general rains of the past week, but not until permanent damage to the grain crops had been sustained in almost every section except the western third, according to crop reports received by the North Dakota Extension division from 28 county extension agents of the state.

Hot weather caused a forced growth of wheat, with the result that the crop is heading out with very short straw in many localities. Tipburning is also quite general. Southwestern Missouri Slope counties, and the northwest to a lesser degree, constitute an exception in that crop conditions are reported to be very favorable in those localities where good farming practices are used. The greatest drouth damage is in the counties south and west of Devils Lake, where reductions in prospects amount to 25 or 30 percent, according to the reports.

No infections of black stem rust of wheat have yet been reported in the state, and plant pathologists declare that indications are that the disease should not take as heavy a toll as usual.

"Last year the first report of black stem rust in the state was made on June 28," declares Dr. Wanda Westergaard, plant pathologist of the Experiment station. "The year previous the first report was June 13, and the year before June 6. First reports of black stem rust of wheat are usually received just prior to or at the time of heading out. As the crop is already headed out as a rule, the disease is late in making its appearance."

Potato fields in the vicinity of Fargo are showing thin stands in some cases due to rotting of seed pieces, a few fields having stands ranging from 20 to 50 percent. Blackleg and Rhizoctonia are already showing up in some of the potato fields, the plant pathologists report, and they declare this to be an early date for the appearance of these diseases. Scattered reports of grasshopper damage continue there are some reports of losses from wheat canker in flax. Early and late sown grain is comparatively in better condition than other small grains, according to the report.

Half of last year's crop of rye would seem to be a maximum estimate according to the reports of many farmers plowing and pasturing their rye fields, and many other fields that will not be worth cutting, coupled with the reduced acreage. Corn has been favored by the weather more than small grains, but the recent rains came at an unfortunate time for farmers who were haying, and there will be a big loss in quality of hay which has been lying on the ground during the wet weather.

Russian fly infestation is reported in the western part of the state but the fly is at the stage where it will do no damage to this year's crop, according to the report.

Hail losses took a big jump during the week and are nearly up to last year's figure, according to the state hail insurance department at Bismarck. Total losses to date are 2,589 compared with 2,632 a year ago. Heaviest losses during the week were reported from Bowman, Adams, Logan, Kidder, Bottineau, Emmons, Logan, McHenry and

MAN CAPTURED AFTER CHASE DENIES GUILT

John L. Whitfield, Sought in Several Cities for Murder, Is Apprehended

Detroit, Mich., June 28.—John L. Whitfield, who was captured here last night pending a chase that has extended through Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan, denies that he killed Dennis Griffin, Cleveland policeman, for whose slaying he is wanted in Ohio city.

Lucked in a cell here Whitfield told officers that Griffin who had told Whitfield under arrest and was driving him to a police station accidentally shot himself and left the automobile to have the wounds dressed. He said that he knew nothing of what happened to the officer thereafter.

Detective Lieut. Nevell of the Cleveland force directed the 24 heavily armed police who surrounded a lumber yard where Whitfield was employed. Nevell made the arrest, covering Whitfield with a revolver before the captive had a chance to flee.

WILL ENFORCE LAW TO LIMIT WALTON SAYS

Oklahoma Governor Would Put Every County Under Martial Law if Necessary

Oklahoma, June 28.—Further military steps in Gov. C. Walton's drive to rid Oklahoma of "lawless" mobs will depend on whether whippings, assault and other forms of violence cease, it was said today at the executive offices.

With dry enforcement in Oklahoma county in the hands of the national guardsmen and four other counties in the state under threat of martial law the Governor made it plain that he was ready to go the limit to suppress mob activities.

He reiterated that he was ready to place troops in charge of every county if necessary to bring about respect for law and protect constitutional rights of every race and class.

BUSINESS IN NORTHWEST UP RICH REPORTS

Situation at End of May as Compared with April Is Shown to be Favorable

BUYING IS BETTER

Seasonal Changes in Retail Sales Show an Increase as Compared to April

Minneapolis, June 28.—The volume of business in the Northwest during the month of May showed a notable increase of more than 6 percent over the preceding month, although there normally is a decline, John H. Rich, Federal Reserve Agent for the Ninth district, said in his monthly review of business conditions, made public today.

"The volume of business as indicated by these figures was 8.7 percent above our estimated normal for the month as compared with a volume of 2.2 percent above normal in April," he said. "The May volume this year was larger than the volume in May of 1919, 1921 and 1922 and was only 6.3 percent lower than the volume in May, 1920, which was the peak year in the dollar amount of business in this territory."

Crop conditions were reported generally favorable. The prices of the chief products of the farm at terminal markets showed mixed tendencies during May. The majority of the grain mediums declined and the majority of livestock mediums increased, but livestock prices were weak at the end of the month.

Projected building activity increased during the month, as compared with normal seasonal trends based on the experience of the past four years. However, the number and valuation of permits was less than a year ago for the same month.

If allowance be made for price changes, the total valuation will be about below last year and a month ago, the report says.

Influx of Funds

Regarding financial conditions the report says:

"Financial conditions as reflected by changes in the balance sheets of selected banks in the larger cities show that there was an influx of money funds of about 10 million dollars net during the last half of May, of which the greater part was due to loan reductions and certain tax collections, and of this about 5 million dollars was utilized during the first half of June to meet the steady decline in deposits which has been almost continuous since the end of January, and to reduce borrowings considerably at this Federal Reserve Bank.

"Interest rates increased slightly, according to the average computed by this office for 13 standard varieties of paper handled in the Minneapolis market during the month, ending June 15. This was due largely to commercial influences, as the cattle loan rate meanwhile declined one-fourth percent."

Retail Sales Higher

Retail sales of general merchandise and of lumber showed changes between April and May which amounted to good increases when purely seasonal influences are eliminated, the report said. General merchandise sales were 1 percent smaller in May than in April, but the normal decline is slightly more than this. Retail lumber sales were 40 percent above the previous month.

The Federal Reserve Bank experienced an increase of more than four million in borrowings by member banks, which was participated in by the banks in all the states of the district. At the same time member bank reserve deposits increased one billion and holdings of purchased bills were reduced more than one-million and security holdings were increased more than a third of a million.

DROWNED IN SLOUGH
Minot, N. D., June 28.—Thomas Morri, aged about 30, an Armenian, was drowned last night in a slough on the fair grounds, where he and two other men had gone to bathe. Morri was employed with an extra gang of the Great Northern working west of the city.

BISMARCK MAN WINS PRIZE FORD DAY

George Schmidt, Employee at Fisk Tire Company Holds
Lucky Number

GETS FORD CAR

Other Awards Give At Close of Day's Celebration

George Schmidt, an employee at the Fisk Tire company, is considering himself a lucky man today, for with the number 552, he won a 1923 model Ford touring car yesterday, given by the Copelin Motor company and the merchants of Bismarck as the grand prize in the Ford day celebration. He also was presented with a fire and theft insurance policy by H. T. Murphy and company.

The prize was awarded late yesterday in front of the offices of the Copelin Motor company. Thirteen tickets were drawn from the large galvanized box by Charles Snyder, of Menoken, and given to Mr. Kelley of the Copelin Motor company, who read them one by one. The first twelve names drawn were Dan Gilquist, Sterling; E. A. Lewis, Baldwin; E. C. White, city; Tom Jennings, city; Mr. Van Hook, city; Charles Leleham, city; R. Hodge, city; E. P. O'Brien, city; C. E. Pickles, city; H. P. Thompson, Baldwin; Mr. Nebergall, city, and G. C. Spears, city.

Preceding the drawing for the Ford car, awards were given out by Fred Copelin, which had been offered for various features in the morning parade, by the Copelin Motor company. Charles Snyder, Menoken, won five gallons of motor oil for having the oldest Ford in the parade, a 1910 model; Hians Hanson, Linton, received a Ford oil gage for the best looking Ford old style; E. E. Vesperman, city, won a Sall oiling system for having the best looking Ford new style; Charles Snyder, Menoken, was justly presented with a second prize, for he was believed to be the oldest man driving a Ford in the parade, when Jerry Sweeney, McKenzie, stepped up and wanted to know how old Mr. Snyder was.

"Sixty-seven," Mr. Snyder proudly replied.

"Well," said Mr. Sweeney, "I guess I have you beat by several years, for I am seventy-two." So Mr. Copelin presented Mr. Sweeney with a luggage carrier.

Other prizes were awarded to John Riecher, a Bismarck, a Trico windshield cleaner for bringing in the largest number of passengers in his car, twelve in all; to Ed Smith, a Williams foot feed, for bringing his family of nine to town, the largest family in the parade; to A. M. Brazel, seat covers, for having the best decorated Ford coupe; to W. A. Smith, Moffit, an automatic windshield cleaner for the best decorated Ford sedan, and to Alfred Ryberg, Bismarck, and L. H. Knowles, Wing, respectively, five gallons of motor oil for the Ford truck bringing in a load of farm products on Ford day selling for the most money, and the Ford truck coming the longest distance. All the Ford trucks in the parade, 26 in all, were filled with gas and oil gratis by the Copelin Motor company before they left for home.

By five o'clock yesterday afternoon, 1,134 people had registered at the Copelin Motor company offices. Mr. Copelin thanked the people for coming into town for the Ford day celebration, and told them that he hoped the next Ford day would be an even greater success than this had been.

A number of the Bismarck merchants offered special Ford day prizes, but most of the awards have not yet been made. Two, however, were announced today: Charles Snyder was presented with a Fedora by the Segal Shoe store, and John Riecher was given a Mantle Timer by the Bismarck Machine shop for having the most ramshackle Ford in the parade.

PILLSBURY CO.

London, June 28.—Plans for the reorganization of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Co., Ltd., and the Pillsbury Flour Mills company of Minneapolis into a $12,500,000 American holding company were unanimously approved at a meeting of the shareholders of the British company here today.

The scheme is effective without further delay than that necessitated in the legal proceedings attendant upon its inception, according to President Loring of Minneapolis.

BANKER-FARMER COMMITTEE TO STUDY FARM PROBLEMS URGED BY COULTER

Dr. John-Lee Coulter

POLICEMAN IS "EMPLOYEE" IS COURT'S RULE

Comes Within Meaning of Workmen's Compensation
Act, Supreme Court Holds

MINOT IS LIABLE

The city of Minot is held liable by the supreme court for damages in the death of Leo S. Fahler, who was killed while on duty as a policeman, attempting to arrest Avery Erickson, the supreme court held in a decision handed down late yesterday.

Earle S. Fahler, as administrator of the estate, brought suit against the city of Minot for damages. The city had not paid premiums under the North Dakota Workmen's Compensation Act and the question was raised also in a demurrer to the complaint before Judge Geo. H. Moellering whether or not a policeman was an "employee" or an "officer" of a city.

The high court, in an opinion written by Justice Birdzell, holds that a policeman is an employee within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, and that since the city of Minot did not pay the premiums, it is liable to damages without ordinary defenses at law. The syllabus of the court said, in part:

"Section 2 of the Workmen's Compensation Act which defines 'employee' as including employee by the state and all political subdivisions, and which defines 'employee' as meaning every person engaged in hazardous employment under any appointment or contract of hire, is construed and held to embrace policeman employed in a city.

Section 11 of the same act, which provides that employers who fail to comply with the provisions requiring payment of premiums shall not be entitled to the benefits of the act during the period of non-compliance but shall be liable to their employees for damages suffered by reason of injuries sustained in the course of employment, etc., and that they shall not avail themselves of the defense of the fellow servant rule, assumption of risk and contributory negligence, is construed in the light of cognate provisions and of the policy manifested by the entire act, and it is held that a non-complying employer is liable to an injured employee within the act, or to his personal representative in the case of death, where the damages were suffered by reason of injuries sustained in the course of employment, regardless of questions at fault.

"Where a city had not complied with the workmen's compensation act and a policeman employed by it was killed in the course of his employment, the city is liable to damages to the personal representative of the deceased on account of the death so occurring."

The decision affirms a ruling by Judge Geo. H. Moellering in the Ward county district court. A previous decision of the supreme court reversed him and dismissed the case, the present opinion being the result of a grant of reargument.

SEES BRIGHTER FUTURE ARISING IN U. S. AFTER TRYING DEFLATION PERIOD

"Nearly all of the trouble, laws and sacrifices that we have endured in recent years with credit and transportation has been caused by emotionalism prevailing over reason and common sense," James E. Guthrie, president of the First National Bank of Bowman, told the members of the North Dakota Bankers association in convention today.

"Before the world went crazy during the World War this nation was comfortably occupied with industry," he continued. "Credit was generally and freely distributed—in many places over-extended."

"The Federal Reserve system had been erected to further accommodate commercial and agricultural credit and was doing a creditable pioneer work in relieving the banks of the country in times of stress."

BANKERS HEAR MANY NOTABLE TALKS TODAY

President of Agricultural College Points Storage and Marketing as Most Important Problems in Rebuilding
of Agricultural Industry of
the State to the Place it Should be—Would Study
Means of Financing for Future Settlers.

Causes of the present situation with respect to agriculture which he classed as unfortunate were given to the North Dakota Bankers association by Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, in an address today as due to the following:

1. To the tremendous increase in wheat acreage and production which, with the close of the war and government guarantees as to price, has brought down the price to an unprofitable level;

2. To the government policy of restricted immigration and tariff protection which have kept up war-time wages and war-time prices on everything the farmer must buy;

3. To the financial and industrial crisis in much of the war-time world accompanied by their determined effort to produce as large a part of their agricultural requirements as possible;

4. To the low standards of living, the low land values and low wages in competing countries;

5. Many factors of lesser importance need not be mentioned here, although high freight rates, increasing taxes, etc., cannot be overlooked.

Mr. Coulter expressed the opinion that the situation would not be solved by the obvious lines of attack, such as lower standards, tax reductions, lower wages and railroad rates, lower land values or reduction in the price of the things the farmer must buy.

Where Turn for Relief.

"Where shall we turn for relief?" he asked. "To my mind there are three great phases of farming which must be considered and I believe great improvements are possible. Great progress has already been made in certain lines but much has before us. I have reference to: (1) Reduction in wheat acreage with corresponding re-organization of all farm work, the increase in livestock and all feed crops and corn and potatoes with accompanying larger yields per acre, lower costs per bushel and better farm management; (2) Reorganization of our marketing system not only for wheat but for flax and rye and potatoes and livestock, wool and other livestock products; (3) Reorganizing and readjusting our financing to meet new conditions. Our financing involves: (a) the purchase and sale of land where as formerly it was free; (b) equipping of the farms with buildings, fences, implements and machinery and livestock; (c) financing the current farm operations; (d) financing the marketing operations. In all of this work of the re-organization of our farming system, changing our marketing machinery and re-directing the financing it is going to be absolutely essential that farmers, bankers and all others join in a common effort to place us all on a profitable basis."

Decreasing the wheat acreage and increasing the yield per acre are necessary, he said, as well as reducing costs per acre. Reorganization of the marketing system to avoid what he termed were evils arising through the middleman and speculators was held necessary.

It is clear, he said, that to obtain orderly marketing there must be storage of non-perishable products within the state, and in this the banker must co-operate with the farmer. A series of marketing organizations such as the North Dakota Wheat Growers, the U. S. Grain Growers, the Wool Pool, the Livestock Shipping associations, etc., must be perfected and marketing organizations must be placed at terminal points to dispose of the farmers' products.

Study of Financing.

A careful study of methods of financing additional buildings on farms was advocated. This must come, Dr. Coulter said, with the passing from the frontier stage. He advocated a committee made up of bankers and farmers to make a thorough study of further legislation and banking organizations to provide for future farm settlers as farm owners.

He urged the bankers association to consider the appointment of committees to confer with farm organizations and representative farmers looking toward development of the state onto a prosperous basis.

"The league of nations has broken down," said Dr. Guthrie, "A league to enforce peace in itself suggests war. The best method to reach the desired result is through an international court."

"The 'Eat More Wheat' campaign launched a few months ago has made far greater strides in the east than in the west, which is the place of production. Capt. Murray Guthrie of the Washburn-Crosby Company said in an interview. He told of the National Wheat Conference recently held in Chicago at which the "Eat More Wheat" campaign was stressed.

Capt. Guthrie pointed in an interview to a letter of the Hartford, Connecticut, Courant, which carried a special "Eat More Wheat" edition, and expressed belief that results were certain to follow the campaign in the east, from which section he has recently returned.

The side-lights on the bankers convention included the ride through Bismarck and Mandan last night, attended by a few members of the Association of Commerce, the barbecue at the Country Club last evening and the horse-shoe pitching contest held in connection with it.

J. J. Nierling, president of the Citizens National Bank of Jamestown, won the horse-shoe pitching contest, defeating a large field, in spite of the fact that Referee Carl J. Zarap

BUSINESS SESSION PRO- GRAM IS TO BE SUCCEEDED BY MUCH ENTERTAINMENT

FARGO ASKS MEETING

Lids for 1924 Convention—
M. R. Porter May Be Elected President

Attendance at the 39th anniversary session of the North Dakota Bankers Association had mounted to over 500 today, it was announced by the registration headquarters, with prospects that this number would be increased during the day by rivals for the final business session to be held tomorrow morning.

The bankers' business today consisted chiefly in hearing several notable speakers on the program, with entertainment features for the afternoon and evening, following the close of the business session at 1 P. M.

The addresses included: "Credit and Transportation," by James E. Guthrie, president, First National Bank, Bowman; "What—Its Consumption—Its Relation to Farming and General Business," by Capt. Murray Guthrie of the Washburn-Crosby Co., Minneapolis; "Do the Interest of Farmers and Bankers Conflict in the promotion of Cooperative Marketing," by Dr. J. L. Coulter, president of the state agricultural college; "America and Its Problems Today," by Dr. William B. Guthrie, of the department of economics, College of the City of New York; "Saving the Day for the U. S. A.," by Dr. William A. Garfield, president of Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., and "An Attack on Constitutional Government," by A. G. Divet, attorney for the association.

The bankers' association band composed of bank employees in various parts of the state played before the opening session this morning. Organ numbers by Harry L. Wagner were succeeded by community singing, after which addresses were delivered.

May Be Advanced

The bankers talked little politics this far, although the election of officers is set for tomorrow morning. It is not unlikely M. R. Porter of Minot, vice-president of the association, will be advanced to the presidency. Resolutions were placed in the hands of the resolutions committee headed by J. R. Carley, for action by the committee and presentation tomorrow morning. The most important resolutions expected to be considered is one dealing with branch banking, and an adverse report is expected. Fargo is the only city bidding for the 1924 convention.

Col. J. H. Fraine, legal adviser for the United States Veterans Bureau, arrived here this morning and made a short explanation of the work of that bureau in handling the matters of compensation of former service men suffering disabilities in the World War.

Paul Leeman, past president of the Minnesota Bankers Association and G. H. Richards, secretary of the association, brought greetings from that organization and Fred N. Sherman, executive manager of the American Bankers Association, New York, was a guest of the bankers.

Applaud Statement

Applauded statements of Dr. William Guthrie, of the College of the City of New York, in favor of President Harding's World Court plan, in opposition to the league of nations. Dr. Guthrie emphasized four points in his address. He urged Americans to guard against concentration of power in Washington, to guard against extension of special privilege through the granting of privilege to some class in Washington; to guard against militarism; and Dr. Guthrie made an attack on Aaron A. Sargent, of the League of Nations covenant, called the heart of the covenant.

"The league of nations has broken down," said Dr. Guthrie, "A league to enforce peace in itself suggests war. The best method to reach the desired result is through an international court."

"The 'Eat More Wheat' campaign launched a few months ago has made far greater strides in the east than in the west, which is the place of production. Capt. MORE THAN 500 AT CONVENTION

Try to Show Martin Tabert

WHIPPING LAWFUL?

Defense Holds He Got Requisite Number of Lashes;

ASSAIL PROSECUTION
Lake City, Fla., June 28.—Defense offers circular "distributed by Grimsom" argument over admissibility. Wade said "Grim-son stays in background to spread propaganda to aid civil action for damages" said such tactics might be admissible in North Dakota where I. W. W.'s dominate. Court rules pamphlet admissible.

Lake City, Fla., June 28.—Efforts
by the state to show that "excessive" flogging given Martin Tabert, young North Dakotan, by Thomas W. Higginbotham, was directly responsible for Tabert's death was vigorously fought today when the trial of the former whipping boss
of the Putnam Lumber Company was resumed.

Higginbotham is under indictment for murder in connection with Ta-bert's death.

The defense made no effort to deny that Tabert was whipped by Higginbotham but will attempt to show that the prisoner was whipped in accordance with prison regulations which specifies ten lashes.
The contention of the defense is that Tabert's death was caused primarily by pneumonia.

Witnesses have already testified that he was given 56 to 87 lashes by Higginbotham.

Charge Witness School
Charges that the state conducted a school for instructing its witnesses under "the manipulations" of G.
Grimsom, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, were made by the defense.

The defense alleged that funds
"sent down here from North Dakota" were being generously distributed among the state's witnesses and also charged that Mr. Grimsom freely distributed pamphlets among the witnesses as to his findings, as the result of an investigation conducted by him into the death of Tabert.

Lengthy arguments by the defense
to have certain testimony stricken from the record brought about the charges of schooling the state's witnesses. No action was taken by Judge M. A. McMullen, presiding.

Whipping Described
A. B. Shivers, of Doerun, Georgia, another former convict guard, said
he was in charge of a squad of convicts in which Tabert was a member and gave a dramatic account of the whipping he said Higginbotham gave the Dakota lad.

The witness said he saw Tabert
whipped on the night of January 27, 1922. He got out of the witness chair and showed how Higginbotham
"treated" the strap by rubbing the end in water and sand. More than 20 licks were given the youth, he said, on the first whipping. According to the witness, Tabert staggered to his feet and back into line. Later he asked Higginbotham for permission to recover a bottle of medicine lost during the whipping. As Ta-bert staggered to where the bottle was lying, Shivers said, Higginbotham struck him again, made him lie down on his back and the lash
was again applied while Higginbotham held the lad down by placing his foot on his head.

State's Attorneys Clash
Sharp personal clashes between State's Attorney James R. Kelly and Leonidas Wade, chief counsel for the defense, came during the early proceedings here today in the trial of Thos. W. Higginbotham, convict whipping boss charged with the murder of Martin Tabert.

The clash became heated as the state's attorney arose in objection to a question asked of Graham Ward, a state witness, by Mr. Wade during cross examination.

Mr. Kelley charged the defense with stabbing him in the back. His questioning of the witness was an insult to me, and I asked the court for protection that I may do my duty
without being insulted.

The question to which objection
was taken was whether Ward did not expect to receive $5,000 from the state to testify in the state.

Judge Halts Argument
Judge McMullen halted the argument and ordered the examination to proceed but the tilt was resumed
when the defense charged that it was going to show that the witness was prompted to testify because of properanda "sent down here from North Dakota" showing a "large slash-fund" in the hands of Grimsom, assistant attorney general, of North Dakota.

The defense further contended that outside influence was taking an active part in the case, that Mr.
Grimsom himself was active in coaching, writing, sending telegrams, and

MISSOURI SLOPE CROPS REPORTED IN EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD SHAPE AS COMPARED TO REST OF NO. DAKOTA

Drouth Damage, But Not
Until Permanent Damage
Had Been Done to Crops in Some Sections. Weekly Agricultural College Report Declares.

Fargo, N. D., June 28.—Drouth conditions which prevailed over a good share of the state were broken by the general rains of the past week,
but not until permanent damage to the grain crops had been sustained in almost every section except the western third, according to crop reports received by the North Dakota Extension division from 28 county extension agents of the state.

Hot weather caused a forced growth of wheat, with the result that the crop is heading out with very short straw in many localities. Tip-burning is also quite general. Southwestern Missouri Slope counties, and the northwest to a lesser degree, constitute an exception in that crop conditions are reported to be very favorable in those localities where good farming practices are used. The greatest drouth damage is in the counties south and west of Devils Lake, where reductions in prospects amount to 25 or 30 percent, according to the reports.

No infections of black stem rust of wheat have yet been reported in the state, and plant pathologists declare that indications are that the disease should not take as heavy a toll as usual.

"Last year the first report of black stem rust in the state was made on June 26," declares Dr. Wanda Wenger, plant pathologist of the Experiment station. "The year previous the first report was June 13, and the year before June 6. First reports of black stem rust of wheat are usually received just prior to or at the time of heading out. As the crop is already headed out as a rule, the disease is late in making its appearance."

Potato fields in the vicinity of Fargo are showing thin stands in some places, a few fields having standing ranging from 20 to 50 percent. Black-leg and Rhizoctonia are already showing up in some of the potato
fields, the plant pathologists report,
and they declare this to be an early date for the appearance of these diseases. Scattered reports of grasshopper damage continue there are some reports of losses from wheat canker
in flax. Early and late sown grain is comparatively in better condition than other small grains, according to the report.

Half of last year's crop of rye
would seem to be a maximum estimate according to the reports of many farmers plowing and pasturing their rye fields, and many other fields that will not be worth cutting, coupled with the reduced acreage. Corn has been favored by the weather more than small grains,
but the recent rains came at an unfortunate time for farmers who were haying, and there will be a big loss in quality of hay which has been lying on the ground during the wet weather.

Hessian fly infection is reported in the western part of the state but the fly is at the stage where it will do no damage to this year's crop,
according to the report.

Hail losses took a big jump during the week and are nearly up to last year's figure, according to the state hail insurance department at Bismarck. Total losses to date are 2,689 compared with 2,632 a year ago. Heaviest losses during the week were reported from Bowman, Adams, Logan, Kidder, Bottineau, Emmons, Logan, McHenry and

BUSINESS IN NORTHWEST UP RICH REPORTS

Situation at End of May as Compared with April Is Shown to be Favorable

Seasonal Changes in Retail
Sales Show an Increase as Compared to April

Minneapolis, June 28.—The volume of business in the Northwest during the month of May showed a notable increase of more than 6 percent over the preceding month, although there normally is a decline, John H. Rich, Federal Reserve Agent for the Ninth district, said in his monthly review of business conditions, made public today.

"The volume of business as indicated by these figures was 8.7 percent above our estimated normal for the month as compared with a volume of 2.2 percent above normal
in April," he said. "The May volume this year was larger than the volume in May of 1919, 1921 and 1922 and was only 6.3 percent lower than the volume in May, 1920, which was the peak year in the dollar amount of business in this territory."

Crop conditions were reported generally favorable. The prices of the chief products of the farm at terminal markets showed mixed tendencies during May. The majority of the grain medians declined and the majority of livestock medians increased, but livestock prices were weak at the end of the month.

Projected building activity increased during the month, as compared with normal seasonal trends
based on the experience of the past four years. However, the number and valuation of permits was less than a year ago for the same month.
If allowance be made for price changes, the total valuation will be found below both last year and a month ago, the report says.

Influx of Funds

Regarding financial conditions
the report says:
"Financial conditions as reflected by changes in the balance sheets of selected banks in the larger cities show that there was an influx of money funds of about 10 million dollars net during the last half of May, of which the greater part was due to loan reductions and certain tax collections, and of this about 9 million dollars was utilized during the first half of June to meet the steady decline in deposits which has been almost continuous since the end of January, and to reduce borrowings considerably at this Federal Reserve Bank."

"Interest rates increased slightly,
according to the average computed
by this office for 13 standard varieties of paper handled in the Minneapolis market during the month ending June 15. This was due largely to commercial influences, as the cattle loan rate meanwhile declined one-fourth per cent."

Retail Sales Higher
Retail sales of general merchandise and of lumber showed changes between April and May which amounted to good increases when purely seasonal influences are allowed for, the report said. General merchandise sales were 1 percent smaller in May than in April, but the normal decline is slightly more than this. Retail lumber sales were 40 percent above the previous month.

The Federal Reserve Bank experienced an May an increase of more than four millions in borrowings from the Federal Reserve bank. This was partly due to the fact that participated in by the banks in all the states of the district. At the same time member bank reserve deposits increased one billion and holdings
of purchased bills were reduced
more than one-million and security holdings were increased more than a third of a million.

Minot, N. D., June 28.—Thomas
Morri, aged about 30, an Armenian,
was drowned last night in a slough
of water at the fair grounds, where he and two other men had gone to bathe. Morri was employed with an extra gang of the Great Northern working west of the city.

CONVICTED OF MURDER, NEW YORK WOMAN IS FACING ELECTRIC CHAIR

New York, June 28.—Convicted of first degree murder and facing the electric chair, Mrs. Anna Buzzi slayer of Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, for whom she lived several years, collapsed in the court room last night
when a verdict in Justice O'Malley's court brought in its verdict
after deliberating 10 hours. Mrs.
Buzzi was committed to the Bronx county jail to await sentence on July 3. The penalty for first degree murder in this state is elec-cution.

Schneider, who was the builder
of the world's largest apartment
house, was found dead in his automobile with two bullet wounds in his brain in a lonely road on the Bronx on Feb. 26.

BISMARCK MAN WINS PRIZE FORD DAY

George Schmidt, Employee at
Fisk Tire Company Holds
Lucky Number

GETS FORD CAR

Other Awards Give At Close of Day's Celebration

George Schmidt, an employee at the Fisk Tire company, is considering himself a lucky man today, for with the number 552, he won a 1923 model Ford touring car yesterday, given by the Copelin Motor company and the merchants of Bismarck as the grand prize in the Ford day celebration. He also was presented with a fire and theft insurance policy by H. T. Murphy and company.

The prize was awarded last yesterday in front of the offices of the Copelin Motor company. Thirteen tickets were drawn from the large galvanized box by Charles Snyder, of Menoken, and given to Mr. Kelley of the Copelin Motor company, who read them one by one. The first twelve names drawn were Dan Gil-quist, Sterling; E. A. Lewis, Baldwin;
E. C. White, city; Tom Jennings, city;
Mr. Van Hook, city; Charles Leishman, city; R. Hodge, city; E. P.
O'Brien, city; C. E. Pickles, city; H.
P. Thompson, Baldwin; Mr. Nebergal,
city, and G. C. Spears, city.

Preceding the drawing for the Ford car, awards were given out by Fred Copelin, which had been offered for various features in the morning paper, by the Copelin Motor company.

Charles Snyder, Menoken, won five gallons of motor oil for having the oldest Ford in the parade, a 1910
model; Hans J. Hanson, Linton, received a raju oil gauge for the best looking Ford old style; E. E. Vesper-man, city, won a Sall oil system for having the best looking Ford new style; Charles Snyder, Menoken, was just to be presented with a second prize, for he was believed to be the oldest man driving a Ford in the parade, when Jerry Sweeney, McKenzie, stepped forward and wanted to know how old Mr. Snyder was.

"Sixty-seven," Mr. Snyder proudly replied.
"Well," said Mr. Sweeney, "I guess
I have you beat by several years, for
I am seventy-two." So Mr. Copelin presented Mr. Sweeney with a luggage carrier.

Other prizes were awarded to John Risch, Bismarck, a Trico windshield cleaner for bringing in the largest number of passengers in his car,
twelve in all, to Ed Smith, a Williams foot feed, for bringing his family of nine to town, the largest family in the parade; to A. M. Brazerol, seat covers, for having the best decorated Ford coupe; to W. A. Smith, Moffit, an automatic windshield cleaner for the best decorated Ford sedan,
and to Alfred Ryberg, Bismarck, and
L. H. Knowles, Wing, respectively, five gallons of motor oil for the Ford truck bringing in a load of farm products on Ford day selling for the most money, and the Ford truck coming the longest distance. All the Ford trucks in the parade, 26 in all,
were filled with gas and oil gratis by the Copelin Motor company before they left for home.

By five o'clock yesterday afternoon,
1,134 people had registered at the Coped Motor company offices. Mr.
Copelin thanked the people for coming into town for the Ford day celebration, and told them that he hoped the next Ford day would be an even greater success than this had been.

A number of the Bismarck merchants offered special Ford day prizes, but most of the awards have not yet been made. Two, however, were announced today: Charles Synder was presented with a Fedora by the Sigel shoe store, and John Risch was given a Master Timer by the Bismarck Machine shop for having the most ramshackle Ford in the parade.

REORGANIZE PILLSBURY CO.

London, June 28.—Plans for the reorganization of the Pillsbury Washburn Flour Mills Co., Ltd., and the Pillsbury Flour Mills company of Minneapolis into a $12,500,000 American holding company were unanimously approved at a meeting of the shareholders of the British company
here today.

The scheme is effective without further delay than that necessitated
in the legal proceedings attendant upon its inception, according to President Loring of Minneapolis.

OPERATED ON

Tokio, June 28.—Miss Jane Adams noted Chicago social worker, was operated on in a hospital today for a tumor of the breast. The surgeons found nothing to indicate that the growth was malignant.

Dr. John Lee Coulter

Workmen's Compensation
Act, Supreme Court Holds

MINOT IS LIABLE

The city of Minot is held liable by the supreme court for damages in the death of Leo S. Fahler, who was killed while on duty as a policeman and attempting to arrest Avery Erickson,
the supreme court held in a decision handed down late yesterday.

Earle S. Fahler, as administratrix of the estate, brought suit against the city of Minot for damages. The city had not paid premiums under the North Dakota Workmen's Compensation Act and the question was raised also in a demurrer to the complaint before Judge Geo. H.
Moellring whether or not a policeman was an "employee" or an "officer" of a city.

The high court, in an opinion written by Justice Birdzell, holds that a policeman is an employee within the meaning of the Workmen's Compensation Act, and that since the city
of Minot did not pay the premiums,
it is liable to damages without ordinary defenses at law. The syllabus
of the court said, in part:

"Section 2 of the Workmen's Compensation Act which defines 'employment' as including employment by the state and all political subdivisions,
and which defines 'employee' as meaning every person engaged in hazardous employment under any appointment or contract of hire, is construed and held to embrace policemen employed in a city."

Section 11 of the same act, which provides that employers who fail to comply with the provisions requiring payment of premiums shall not be entitled to the benefits of the act
during the period of non-compliance
"but shall be liable to their employes for damages suffered by reason of injuries sustained in the course of employment," etc., and that they shall not avail themselves of the defenses
of the fellow servant rule, assumption of risk and contributory negligence, is construed in the light of cognate provisions and of the policy manifested by the entire act, and it is held that a non-complying employer is liable to an injured employee within the act, or to his personal representative in the case of death,
where the damages were suffered by reason of injuries sustained in the course of employment, regardless of questions at fault.

"Where a city had not complied with the workmen's compensation act and a policeman employed by it was killed in the course of his employment, the city is liable to damages to the personal representative of the deceased on account of the death so occurring."

The decision affirms a ruling by Judge Geo. H. Moellring in the Ward county district court. A previous decision of the supreme court reversed
him and dismissed the case, the present opinion being the result of a grant of reargument.

Study of Financing.
A careful study of methods of financing additional buildings on farms
was advocated. This must come, Dr.
Coulter said, with the passing from
the frontier stage. He advocated a committee made up of bankers and
farmers to make a thorough study
of further legislation and banking
organizations to provide for future
farm settlers as farm owners.

He urged the bankers association
to consider the appointment of committees to confer with farm organizations and representative farmers
looking toward development of the
state onto a prosperous basis.

SEES BRIGHTER FUTURE ARISING IN U. S. AFTER TRYING DEFLATION PERIOD

"Nearly all of the trouble, laws and sacrifice that we have endured in recent years with credit and transportation has been caused by emotionalism prevailing over reason and common sense," James E. Phelan, president of the First National Bank of Bowman, told the members of the North Dakota Bankers association in convention today.

"Before the world went crazy during the World War this nation was comfortably occupied with industry," he continued. "Credit was generally and freely distributed—in many places over-extended."

President of Agricultural College Points Storage and Marketing as Most Important Problems in Rebuilding
of Agricultural Industry of
the State to the Place it Should be—Would Study Means of Financing for Future Settlers.

Causes of the present situation
with respect to agriculture which he classes as unfortunate were given by the North Dakota Bankers association by Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, in an address today as due to the following:

1. To the tremendous increase in land acreage and production which,
with the close of the war and government guarantees as to price, has brought down the price to an unprofitable level;

2. To the government policy of restricted immigration and tariff protection which have kept up war-time wages and war-time prices on everything the farmer must buy;

3. To the financial and industrial crisis in much of the war-torn world accompanied by their determined effort to produce as large a part of their agricultural requirements as possible;

4. To the low standards of living,
the low land values and low wages
in competing countries;

5. Many factors of lesser importance need not be mentioned here, although high freight rates, increasing taxes, etc., cannot be overlooked.
Mr. Coulter expressed the opinion that the situation would not be solved by the obvious lines of attack,
such as lower standards, tax reductions, lower wages and railroad rates, lower land values or reduction in the price of the things the farmer must buy.

Where Turn for Relief?
"Where shall we turn for relief?"
he asked. "To my mind there are three great phases of farming which must be considered and I believe great improvements are possible.
Great progress has already been made in certain lines but much lies before us. I have reference to: (1)

Reduction in wheat acreage with corresponding re-organization of all farm work, the increase in livestock
and all feed crops and corn and potatoes with accompanying larger yields per acre, lower costs per bushel and better farm management;
(2) Reorganization of our marketing system not only for wheat but for flax and rye and potatoes and livestock, wool and other livestock products; (3) Reducing and readjust-
ing our financing to meet new conditions. Our financing involves (a) the purchase and sale of land whereas formerly it was free; (b) equipping of the farms with buildings, fences, implements and machinery
and livestock; (c) financing the current farm operations; (d) financing the marketing operations. In all of this work of the re-organization of the marketing system, changing our marketing machinery and readjusting the financing it is going to be absolutely essential that farmers, bankers and all others join in a common effort to place us all on a profitable basis."

Decreasing the wheat acreage and increasing the yield per acre are necessary, he said, as well as reducing costs per acre. Reorganization of the marketing system to avoid what he termed was evils arising through the middleman and speculators was held necessary.

It is clear, he said, that to obtain orderly marketing there must be storage of non-perishable products
within the state, and in this the bankers must co-operate with the farmer.
A series of marketing organizations such as the North Dakota Wheat growers' association and the Wool Pool, the Livestock Shipping associations, etc., must be perfected and marketing organizations must be placed at terminal points to dispose of the farmers' products.

Study of Financing.
A careful study of methods of financing additional buildings on farms
was advocated. This must come, Dr.
Coulter said, with the passing from
the frontier stage. He advocated a committee made up of bankers and
farmers to make a thorough study
of further legislation and banking
organizations to provide for future
farm settlers as farm owners.

He urged the bankers association
to consider the appointment of committees to confer with farm organizations and representative farmers
looking toward development of the
state onto a prosperous basis.

"The 'Eat More Wheat' campaign launched a few months ago has made far greater strides in the east than in the west, which is the place of production, Capt. Murray Guthrie of the Washburn-Crosby Company said in an interview. He told of the National Wheat Conference recently held in Chicago at which the "Eat
More Wheat" campaign was stressed.
Capt. Guthrie pointed in an interview to an issue of the Hartford, Connecticut, Courant, which carried a special "Eat More Wheat" edition,
and expressed belief that results
were certain to follow the campaign in the east, from which section he has recently returned.

The side-lights on the bankers convention included the ride through Bismarck and Mandan last night, attended by Bismarck members of the Association where Conference recently was held. A large field in the center

BANKERS HEAR MANY NOTABLE TALKS TODAY

Busy Business Session Program Is To Be Succeeded By Much Entertainment

FARGO ASKS MEETING

Bids for 1924 Convention—
M. R. Porter May Be
Elected President

Attendance at the 39th anniversary session of the North Dakota Bankers Association had mounted to over 500 today, it was announced by the registration headquarters, with prospects that this number would be increased during the day by arrivals for the final business session to be held tomorrow morning.

The bankers' business today consisted chiefly of hearing several notable speakers on the program, with entertainment features for the afternoon and evening, following the close of the business session at 1 P.
M.

The addresses included: "Credit
and Transportation," by James E.
Phelan, president, First National Bank, Bowman; "Wheat—Its Consumption—Its Relation to Farming
and General Business," by Capt.
Murray Guthrie of the Washburn-Crosby Co., Minneapolis; "Do the Interest of Farmers and Bankers Conflict in the promotion of Cooperative Marketing," by Dr. J. L. Coulter, president of the state agricultural college, "America and Its Problems Today," by Dr. William B.
Guthrie, of the department of economies, College of the City of New York; "Saving the Day for the U. S.
A," by Dr. William A. Garfield, president of Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., and "An Attack on Constitutional Government," by A. G. Divet, attorney for the association.

The bankers' association band composed of bank employees in various parts of the state, played before the opening session this morning. Organ numbers by Harry L.
Wagner were succeeded by competition singing, after which addresses were delivered.

May Be Advanced
The bankers have talked little politics thus far, although the election of officers is set for tomorrow morning. It is not unlikely, many expect of Minot, vice-president of the association, will be advanced to the presidency. Resolutions were placed in the hands of the resolutions committee headed by J. R. Carley, for consideration by that committee and approval. Among the most important resolutions expected to be adopted to be considered is one dealing with branch banking, and an adverse report is expected. Fargo is the only city bidding for the 1924 convention.

Col. J. H. Fraine, legal adviser for the United States Veterans Bureau, arrived here this morning and made a short explanation of the work
of that bureau in handling the matters of compensation of former service men suffering disabilities in the World War.

Paul Leeman, past president of the Minnesota Bankers Association and G. H. Richards, secretary of the association, brought greetings from that organization and Fred N. Sherhard, executive manager of the American Bankers Association, New York, was a guest of the bankers.

Amplified greetings of Dr.
William Guthrie, of the College of the City of New York, in favor of President Harding's World Court
plan and in opposition to the league of Nations. Dr. Guthrie emphasized four points in his address. He urged Americans to guard against concentration of power in Washington, saying it threatened local government

TODD DOESN'T MINCE WORDS

Emphatic In Stating Tanlac Ended Indigestion And Built Him Up 10 Lbs.

"Tanlac has put an end to my indigestion and built me up ten pounds, and if there ever was a day when I felt better, I can't remember it," declared John H. Todd, of Pine Street, East Gary, Indiana, a boiler-maker for the Illinois Steel Co., recently.

"A few months ago, I would have given anything to enjoy the hearty meals I do now, and I can't sit down to the table without feeling thankful to Tanlac."

"Before taking Tanlac, I didn't want to eat anything and the little I did eat caused sourness, gas, smothering sensations and heartburn. I was losing weight, suffering terribly from nervousness and headaches and I could scarcely sleep at night."

"I count myself lucky that I got Tanlac. I have a corking appetite now, nerves like iron, sleep right through the night, and when I am doing heavy work around the shop, I feel equal to the task every minute. Tanlac is a grand medicine."

HUNTING AN ARK AFTER THE DELUGE

Residents of Winfield, Kan., marooned in the business district as flood waters raced down their city's thoroughfares, were guided to safety by ropes stretched from building to building. Mt. Etna, Again In Eruption, Violent Many Times

Mt. Etna, after three months of ominous threatening, again is in eruption. The map shows the location of the famous old volcano in Sicily, Italy. Thousands of persons are fleeing from their homes in the fertile valleys at the base of the slope and several cities, notably Catania and Giarre, are in danger of being buried by the deluge of molten lava. Giarre is reported in grave danger.

Probably the oldest, and surely the most colorful, of all volcanoes, is Etna. Scenes of horror like the one now being enacted in the fertile Sicilian valley, date back to the eighth century B. C. Etna is located on the east coast of Sicily. Its summit is approximately 18 miles northwest of Catania, the city which now is in danger, according to news dispatches, of being deluged by a flood of lava. Etna's height, in 1900, was ascertained to be 10,758 feet; it decreased from 10,870, the height in 1861. The volcano covers about 460 square miles and by rail the distance about the base of the mountain is 86 miles though as the railway in some places travels high, the actual measurement is 91 miles.

The general height could not have been very different in ancient times, for buildings left from the Roman era now may be found only 1188 feet below the present summit.

The southwest portion of the

about 200 subsidiary cones, some over 3000 feet high. Experts estimate Etna older even than Vesuvius. It takes about seven or eight hours to reach the top. Eruptions are recorded as far back as the eighth and fifth centuries B. C. Catania was overwhelmed in 1169, and many other serious eruptions have taken place. These were in 1669, 1820, 1852, 1865, 1879, 1886, 1892, 1899 and March, 1910.

AT THE MOVIES
CAPITOL.
Tom Mix says he did more daring stunts for fun on the range than he has done in pictures. What do you think, for example, of eight cowboys, who amused themselves by placing eight pans upside down in a corral and betting which of the eight could stand on the upturned pail longer after a wild steer had been admitted into the corral? You see, as long as a person remains motionless a steer won't gore in. But when a steer noses up behind you and sniffs and snorts, you don't know that he is not ready to lower his head and butt. Therefore, the boys get nervous and make a dash for the fence, with the steer trailing. Of course, that makes the other boys laugh. They move. The steer sees them and comes back on the run. Away most of them go for the fence. Figuring things out as Mix does, it would seem that the last one to remain on the upturned pail deserves to win at so cheerful a game as that.

So you can get a slight idea of wher, Tom Mix got his nerve, and he displays a goodly portion of this in "Catch My Smoke," the Fox production, which comes to the Capitol theater tonight.

CHAS. RAY AT THE ELTINGE
A new Charles Ray, with an acting scope and power unknown to many devotees of this favorite star, will be seen at the Eltinge theatre on Friday and Saturday when he will present his second feature under the banner of United Artists, entitled "The Girl I Loved."

Based upon the poem of the same title by James Whitcomb Riley, this photoplay presents Ray in the character of that beloved writer in his youth. It is not widely known that Riley had a dramatic love affair and he described it with great beauty and deep sentiment in "The Girl I Loved." Out of this confession in verse and its implications of a fierce inner struggle Mr. Ray has built a thrilling photoplay.

Artist that he is, Ray has made the poet's experience as a fiery and determined lover tremendously real,

gripping with suspense, vivid in action and universal in appeal—the tale of everyone who covets the mate of his choice ardently. Moreover, the play contains a surprise element that pulls the spectator up with a jerk.

Back of this romantic story runs a charming panorama of life among the buoyant and wholehearted folks of rural Indiana in 1840-60. The simple but heartily merry-making of an era before our day of hectic pleasures are said to have been presented with great fidelity, forming a bright and pleasing contrast to the more intense action of the main story.

AVOID THESE SYMPTOMS
"I was weak and nervous, had headaches all the time, and my back hurt so bad I could hardly stoop," writes Frank Richardson, Perry, Georgia. "Tried Foley Kidney Pills and got relief." Backache, rheumatic pains, tired feeling, dull headache, too frequent urination, discolored or strong odor are symptoms of Kidney and Bladder disorders and demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's.

DANCING NOT PUBLIC SPORT

Not Illegal on Sunday Before July 1, Court Rules

Dancing on Sunday in North Dakota is not a violation of present laws, Judge Fred Jansoni of district court held here today in the case of M. P. Nicholas of Walsh county against the attorney general. However, a new law is effective July 1, which specifically prohibits public dances in the state.

Nicholas, according to information at the attorney general's office, had agreed not to hold Sunday dances in his pavilion near Lankin, N. D., and it was alleged by a license inspector that a dance was held, his license being revoked. Nicholas denied he gave a dance.

Reciting that existing laws in North Dakota prohibit Sunday dancing, Judge Jansoni said: "In my opinion, social labor does not include operating a dance pavilion even if it is conceded that the plaintiff did operate a dance, which is not shown."

"I do not think dancing can be classified as a public sport," he continued.

Judge Jansoni pointed to an existing supreme court decision, in which the court "held that a private hunting party shooting crows on Sunday does not violate the Sunday law. If dancing is considered one of the sports, still the evidence does not show that it was public, and under the holding in the Davis case all sports not public are permitted. It may be admitted that if this dance interrupted the repose and religious liberty of the community, it would have been unlawful, but the evidence does not show that it did."

Commenting on the assertion of Hyginbotham's attorney the court held that unless something could be showed to the contrary "I think that it is commendable on the part of North Dakota, to investigate the death of one of its citizens."

"So far as Mr. Grimson is concerned he is taking no active part in the case," said A. Caldwell, assistant state's attorney.

He is here representing the sovereign state of North Dakota and I challenge the defense to produce anything improper in his conduct.

Talks on Court Rule.

Counties do not have a lien upon crops of years subsequent to that for which seed was furnished. A. G. Divot, of Fargo, attorney for the North Dakota Bankers' association, informed the bankers in his first annual report this morning. He said that district court had so ruled in favor of association's contention, but that supreme court, before which he intervened and filed brief in another action, has not decided question.

Mr. Divot said that "comparative rank of county seed liens and mortgages upon crops for years subsequent to year in which county furnished seed has been aggravatingly printed during all of past year, and that two test cases were presented in district court last fall."

He also reported that supreme court had ruled that law of 1910, affecting right of possession, use and rents of property during year of redemption doesn't apply to mortgages in existence at the time law went into effect.

He reported, too, on work that he did in connection with the national bank tax legislation which had been passed by house, but which was under consideration for amendment in senate. Senator Kellogg of Minnesota was very active in such legislation, and Mr. Divot said that it was after some difficulty with him that bankers of Minnesota managed to get their contentions before senate committee, with result that legislation was enacted which in no way seriously affected national banks in this state.

During 11 months department has been operating, he has rendered 682 opinions upon matters of considerable importance to bankers. He has furnished many briefs, answered more than 700 letters and been counsel attorney for individual banks in 22 different law suits.

"Water" and Railroad Rates

Certain politicians are spreading claims like this among voters whose political support they are seeking:

"If the water was squeezed out of railroad capitalization and valuation, rates could be reduced fifty per cent."

Official figures filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington prove that EIGHTY-FIVE PER CENT of all the money taken in by all the railroads - eighty-five cents out of every dollar - is paid out for LABOR, MATERIALS AND TAXES.

In 1922 the Soo Line took in from operations a little more than forty-seven million dollars. It paid out over thirty-nine and one-half millions (84 per cent of what was taken in) for labor, materials and taxes - over six millions (13 per cent of what was taken in) for interest on Bonds and Notes - altogether NINETY-SEVEN CENTS OUT OF EVERY DOLLAR EARNED.

Suppose that the Government should CONFISCATE all Soo Line Bonds and Stock - all its four thousand four hundred miles of railroad in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, South Dakota and Montana, purchased with money paid in by the Stockholders and Bondholders - all its millions of dollars' worth of locomotives, cars, stations, shops, round-houses, etc. - so that nothing would be paid for the use of all that property.

Three Kinds of Products Advertising Can Sell

First, the product that offers some new and better way of meeting human wants. For such a product advertising offers the cheapest, quickest means of finding those people who will appreciate the advantages the new product offers.

Third, the product which - in lucid moments - its owner will admit is no better than others of its kind. For such a product advertising can create a personality that will make it stand out from competing products like the one lighted house in a row of dark ones.

For Bismarck and vicinity: Fair tonight and probably Friday. Somewhat warmer tonight.

For North Dakota: Fair tonight and probably Friday. Somewhat warmer tonight.

General Weather Conditions
Temperatures are somewhat lower over the East this morning and cool weather is general in all sections due to the large high pressure area centered over the northern Plains States and northern Rocky Mountain region. Some showers occurred over the northern Rocky Mountain region, in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys and in the Great Lakes region, but fair weather prevails from the Plains States westward this morning.

Road Condition

The roads throughout the State are mostly in excellent condition due to much dragging.

Heat Drives New York Cliff-Dwellers From Homes

Baby swings low in a cradle under the dock. Dad and Buddy stretch out on the beach and Mother sits up against a post so the sand won't get down her neck. BANKERS HEAR MANY NOTABLE TALKS TODAY

Tennis matches also are in progress. The matches today included: Leonard vs. Brunsdale; Harmsey vs. Page; Sprecher vs. Kjelstrup; Huelskamp vs. Silbert; Brunsdale defeated Leonard and Harmsey defeated Page in the singles matches. Doubles matches listed included: Harmsey and Sprecher; Huelskamp and Brunsdale; Page and Kuss.

The afternoon program included a ball game between the National and State bankers.

All officials of the association expressed satisfaction with the attendance at the convention, and visitors were pleased with the entertainment features.

This afternoon play is on for the golf cup of the state association.

Talks on Court Rule.

Counties do not have a lien upon crops of years subsequent to that for which seed was furnished, A. G. Divet, of Fargo, attorney for the North Dakota Bankers' association, informed the bankers in his first annual report this morning. He said that district court had so ruled in favor of association's contention, but that supreme court, before which he intervened and filed brief in another action, has not decided question.

Mr. Divet said that "comparative rank of county seed liens and mortgages upon crops for years subsequent to year in which county furnished seed has been aggravatingly printed during all of past year, and that two test cases were presented in district court last fall."

He also reported that supreme court had ruled that law of 1919, affecting right of possession, use and rents of property during year of redemption doesn't apply to mortgages in existence at the time law went into effect.

He reported, too, on work that he did in connection with the national bank tax legislation which had been passed by house, but which was under consideration for amendment in senate. Senator Kellogg of Minnesota was very active in such legislation, and Mr. Divet said that it was after some difficulty with him that bankers of Minnesota managed to get their contentions before senate committee, with result that legislation was enacted which in no way seriously affected national banks in this state.

During 11 months department has been operating, he has rendered 682 opinions upon matters of considerable importance to bankers. He has furnished many briefs, answered more than 700 letters and been counsel attorney for individual banks in 22 different law suits.

Three Kinds of Products Advertising Can Sell

First, the product that offers some new and better way of meeting human wants. For such a product advertising offers the cheapest, quickest means of finding those people who will appreciate the advantages the new product offers.

Second, the product with hidden values that escapes the consumer's untrained eye. For such a product advertising can educate the buyer until he becomes a discriminating purchaser.

Third, the product which—in lucid moments—its owner will admit is no better than others of its kind. For such a product advertising can create a personality that will make it stand out from competing products like the one lighted house in a row of dark ones.

Which kind of product is yours? Have you learned to use advertising to fit its needs?

"Water" and Railroad Rates

Certain politicians are spreading claims like this among voters whose political support they are seeking:

"If the water was squeezed out of railroad capitalization and valuation, rates could be reduced fifty per cent."

Official figures filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington prove that EIGHTY-FIVE PER CENT of all the money taken in by all the railroads—eighty-five cents out of every dollar—is paid out for LABOR, MATERIALS and TAXES.

In 1922 the Soo Line took in from operations a little more than forty-seven million dollars. It paid out over thirty-nine and one-half millions (84 per cent of what was taken in) for labor, materials and taxes—over six millions (13 per cent of what was taken in) for interest on Bonds and Notes—altogether NINETY-SEVEN CENTS OUT OF EVERY DOLLAR EARNED.

Suppose that the Government should CONFISCATE all Soo Line Bonds and Stock—all its four thousand four hundred miles of railroad in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, South Dakota and Montana, purchased with money paid in by the Stockholders and Bondholders—all its millions of dollars' worth of locomotives, cars, stations, shops, round-houses, etc.—so that nothing would be paid for the use of all that property.

IT WOULD STILL BE NECESSARY TO TAKE IN EIGHTY-FOUR CENTS OF EVERY DOLLAR THAT THIS RAILROAD NOW RECEIVES IN ORDER TO PAY FOR LABOR, MATERIALS AND TAXES.

President, Soo Line.

"Tanlac has put an end to my indigestion and built me up ten pounds, and if there ever was a day when I felt better, I can't remember it," declared John H. Todd, of Pine Street, East Gary, Indiana, a boilermaker for the Illinois Steel Co., recently.

"A few months ago, I would have given anything to enjoy the heavy meals I do now, and I can't sit down to the table without feeling thankful to Tanlac."

"Before taking Tanlac, I didn't want to eat anything and the little I did eat caused sourness, gas, smothering sensations and heartburn. I was losing weight, suffering terribly from nervousness and headaches and I could scarcely sleep at night."

"I count myself lucky that I got Tanlac. I have a corking appetite now, nerves like iron, sleep right through the night, and when I am doing heavy work around the shop, I feel equal to the task every minute. Tanlac is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 27-million bottles sold.

HUNTING AN ARK AFTER THE DELUGE

Mt. Etna, Again In Eruption, Violent Many Times

Mt. Etna, after three months of ominous threatening, again is in eruption. The map shows the location of the famous old volcano in Sicily, Italy. Thousands of persons are fleeing from their homes in the fertile valleys at the base of the slope and several cities, notably Catania and Giarre, are in danger of being buried by the deluge of molten lava. Giarre is reported in grave danger.

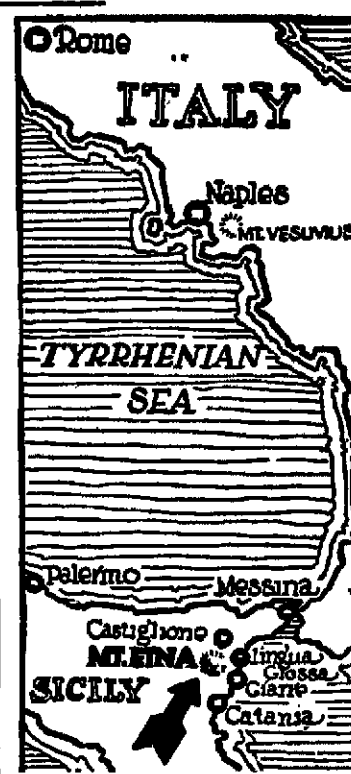

Probably the oldest, and surely the most colorful, of all volcanoes, is Etna. Scenes of horror like the one now being enacted in the fertile Sicilian valley, date back to the eighth century B. C.

Etna is located on the east coast of Sicily. Its summit is approximately 18 miles northwest of Catania, the city which now is in danger, according to news dispatches, of being deluged by a flood of lava.

Etna's height, in 1900, was ascertained to be 10,758 feet; it decreased from 10,870, the height in 1861. The volcano covers about 460 square miles and by rail the distance about the base of the mountain is 86 miles though as the railway in some places travels high, the actual measurement is 91 miles.

The general height could not have been very different in ancient times, for buildings left from the Roman era now may be found only 1188 feet below the present summit.

The southwest portion of the

about 200 subsidiary cones, some over 3000 feet high.

Experts estimate Etna older even than Vesuvius. It takes about seven or eight hours to reach the top. Eruptions are recorded as far back as the eighth and fifth centuries B. C. Catania was overwhelmed in 1169, and many other serious eruptions have taken place. These were in 1669, 1870, 1893, 1895, 1879, 1885, 1892, 1899 and March, 1912.

St. Paul Engineer Meets With City Fathers Saturday

Louis P. Wolf of St. Paul, consulting engineer, will be present at the meeting of the Board of City Commissioners Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the question of various projects resulting from the purchase by the city of the new water works system will be discussed.

Mr. Wolf will be asked for an opinion in regard to the placing of a sixteen inch main on Broadway or Avenue C. The advisability of the elimination of one 12,000 gallon pump at the river, and the best type of all engines to do the pumping will be taken up.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL.
Tom Mix says he did more daring stunts for fun on the range than he has done in pictures. What do you think, for example, of sight cowboys, who amused themselves by placing eight pairs upside down in a corral and betting which of the eight could stand on the upturned pair longest after a wild steer had been admitted into the corral?

You see, as long as a person remains motionless a steer won't gore in. But when a steer nips up behind you and sniffs and snorts, you don't know that he is not ready to lower his head and butt. Therefore, the boys get nervous and make a dash for the fence, with the steer trailing. Of course, that makes the other boys laugh. They move. The steer sees them and comes back on the run. Away most of them go for the fence. Figuring things out as Mix does, it would seem that the last one to remain on the upturned pair deserves to win at so cheerful a game as that.

So you can get a slight idea of where Tom Mix got his nerve, and he displays a goodly portion of this in "Catch My Smoke," the Fox production, which comes to the Capitol theater tonight.

CHAS. RAY AT THE ELTINGE

A new Charles Ray, with an acting scope and power unknown to many devotees of this favorite star, will be seen at the Eltinge theatre on Friday and Saturday when he will present his second feature entitled "The Girl I Loved."

Based upon the poem of the same title by James Whitcomb Riley, this photoplay presents Ray in the character of that beloved writer in his youth. It is not widely known that Riley had a dramatic love affair and he described it with great beauty and deep sentiment in "The Girl I Loved." Out of this confession in verse and its implications of a fierce inner struggle Mr. Ray has built a thrilling photoplay.

Artist that he is, Ray has made the poet's experience as a fiery and determined lover tremendously real.

gripping with suspense, vivid in action and universal in appeal—the tale of everyone who covets the mate of his choice ardently. Moreover, the play contains a surprise element that pulls the spectator up with a jerk.

Back of this romantic story runs a charming panorama of life among the buoyant and wholehearted folks of rural Indiana in 1840-60. The simple but hearty merry-making of an era before our day of hectic pleasures are said to have been presented with great fidelity, forming a bright and pleasing contrast to the more intense action of the main story.

AVOID THESE SYMPTOMS

"I was weak and nervous, had headaches all the time, and my back hurt so bad I could hardly stoop," writes Frank Richardson, Perry, Georgia. "Tried Foley Kidney Pills and got relief." Backache, rheumatic pains, tired feeling, dull headache, too frequent urination, discoloration or strong odor are symptoms of Kidney and Bladder disorders and demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney pills give quick relief. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

A FAIR EXAMPLE

Wednesday morning session of the city commission was a fair example of the kind of bargaining and bickering this city can expect unless the new water works system is owned down to the last unit. A. P. Lenhart, president of the city commission, and his fellow members of the board made it plain that they desire a complete city owned water works plant whose efficiency and success no private utility can match or impede.

It is a wise precaution to consider carefully the type of pumps and engines to install for Bismarck is not acting for today but for several decades ahead. If expensive pumping equipment can be eliminated at the pump house and a steamer employed to boost pressure at the hydrant that is the action to take.

Commissioner Hensler's position is logical as is City Engineer Atkinson's in urging adequate fire protection under the new water system plans. Now that the city is to operate its own plant, it is necessary to work out a plan that will protect the water consumers against excessive pressure against their plumbing. The only solution now seems to be the purchase of adequate equipment at an actual saving to the city in expensive fire pumps at the river which will not give the efficiency a fire engine will.

After the announcement of Mr. Lenhart at yesterday's session there should be no further controversy over the installation of a city owned power plant as an integral part of the water works system.

If it costs Bismarck as much to generate the power as the Hughes Electric company offers to supply current, it would be better for the city to do the job itself so as to be free from state interference. Mr. Hughes knows that under the present law he cannot make any contract with the city without the approval of the state commission. It is subterfuge of the most apparent kind for him to offer a rate lower than what the state commission has fixed as compensatory. Talk of putting up a bond is immaterial also and beside the point for no bond will protect the city against state interference. These attacks merely seek to defeat complete city ownership of the water works system to protect the private interests of one corporation.

At present there is a strong demand for the city to light its own streets and public buildings by installing two units of Diesel engines. There is no question but what the city can save $1,000 a month for the taxpayers by so doing, but there is a disposition to move slowly in this matter in establishing one unit for pumping the water to ascertain beyond a doubt what the actual cost in fact will be. If the economy is as great as anticipated then will be the time to install the other unit to take on the additional load.

If the local power utility continues to throw obstacles in the way of complete city ownership of the water system the reaction will be so strong that the city commission will be asked to take over the street lighting and the lighting of the schools and public buildings immediately. The fable of the dog and the shadow could be read with profit by the small clique displeased at the solution of the water controversy and who now seek to keep the city embroiled in a fight that has and is now militating against the best interests of Bismarck.

Of course it is too much to expect the local power utility to be enthusiastic over city ownership of any utility-failing in preventing that the next logical step for them is to prevent it from being a success. That is the point of attack but as the citizens' committee and the commission are aware of the danger the interests of the people of Bismarck should be safe.

Let there be no deviation from the policy of complete city ownership of the water system. It is not so much a matter of cost but one of supreme importance to the welfare of all the people.

WHAT IS NOT FOR THE GOOD OF THE WHOLE COMMUNITY IS NOT GOOD FOR THE CITY.

WINE

You may have noticed that not as many cellars are lighted up, late at night, as last year or the one before. Less home-brew is being made. "Too much fuss and nuisance, not worth the bother." The wine crop, vintage of 1923, will be scant.

Prohibition is "getting" us gradually, all right. It'll take time—20 to 30 years, we believe, was the "bone-dry" estimate of some government experts when prohibition was written into the national law. By the way, have you been keeping an eye on some of the old soaks who, too wise to drink bootleg poison, have crawled on the wagon?

CRIME

The former head of Scotland Yard detectives, Sir Basil Thomson, toured our country recently. Back home in London, he blames our crime waves on uncertain and feeble working of our laws (loopholes and too much elasticity) rather than on courts or police. He also thinks we do not have enough cops.

OLDEST

The American flamingo bird, which science says has been living on earth 350,000 years, is in danger of extinction. Their largest colony, in the Bahamas, is disappearing rapidly because the natives consider them "good eating." National bird societies are "all het up" about it.

Nature apparently is through with the flamingo and is crossing it off her list. Worth while to argue with her?

FEAR

Flightless birds and other strange jungle creatures arrive, whole shipload, at New York Zoological Gardens. They come from islands 800 miles off the coast of Ecuador. Their captors were most impressed with the wild creatures' lack of fear.

There was nothing for them to be afraid of. They had not yet encountered the most dangerous beast, man.

India has her earthquake, but we have our presidential election.

Things could be worse. Suppose July Fourth was Christmas and you had to dress as Santa Claus?

Quickest way to make both ends meet is to eat a green cucumber.

You can't enjoy yourself these days. Nine Philadelphia fans were fined for hitting umpires.

While New York leads in both baseball leagues, it trails in the Epworth and Anti-Saloon Leagues.

Wish this would hurry up and be last summer.

Now that business is getting settled maybe business will be.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next station in Choo-Choo Land was Pin Town.

It was about the queerest of all the queer places the twins had been in. Every kind of pin was there.

"I think this is a good place to look for your lost doll," said Nick. "She was so ragged she may have come here to get pinned up."

"Poor dear!" Nancy couldn't help saying. "Here comes a clothes-pin. I'll ask."

"Please, did you see Ruby Joan?" asked Nancy. "She was a rag doll and wore a patchwork dress and polka-dot stockings."

"A rag doll?" said the clothes-pin. "No, I didn't see her. I've only worked in the best of families. The clothes I pinned on the line every week were as fine as silk. No rags, I tell you! Everything lace and embroidery!"

The proud clothes-pin passed on, and a tall hat-pin came along.

"Did you see a rag doll anywhere?" asked Nancy.

"I have pinned hats on princesses and Queens," said the hat-pin proudly, "but never on a doll—much less a rag doll. No, I haven't seen her."

And it passed on.

Then along came a gold pin.

"Did you see anything of a rag doll?" asked Nancy.

The gold pin stopped.

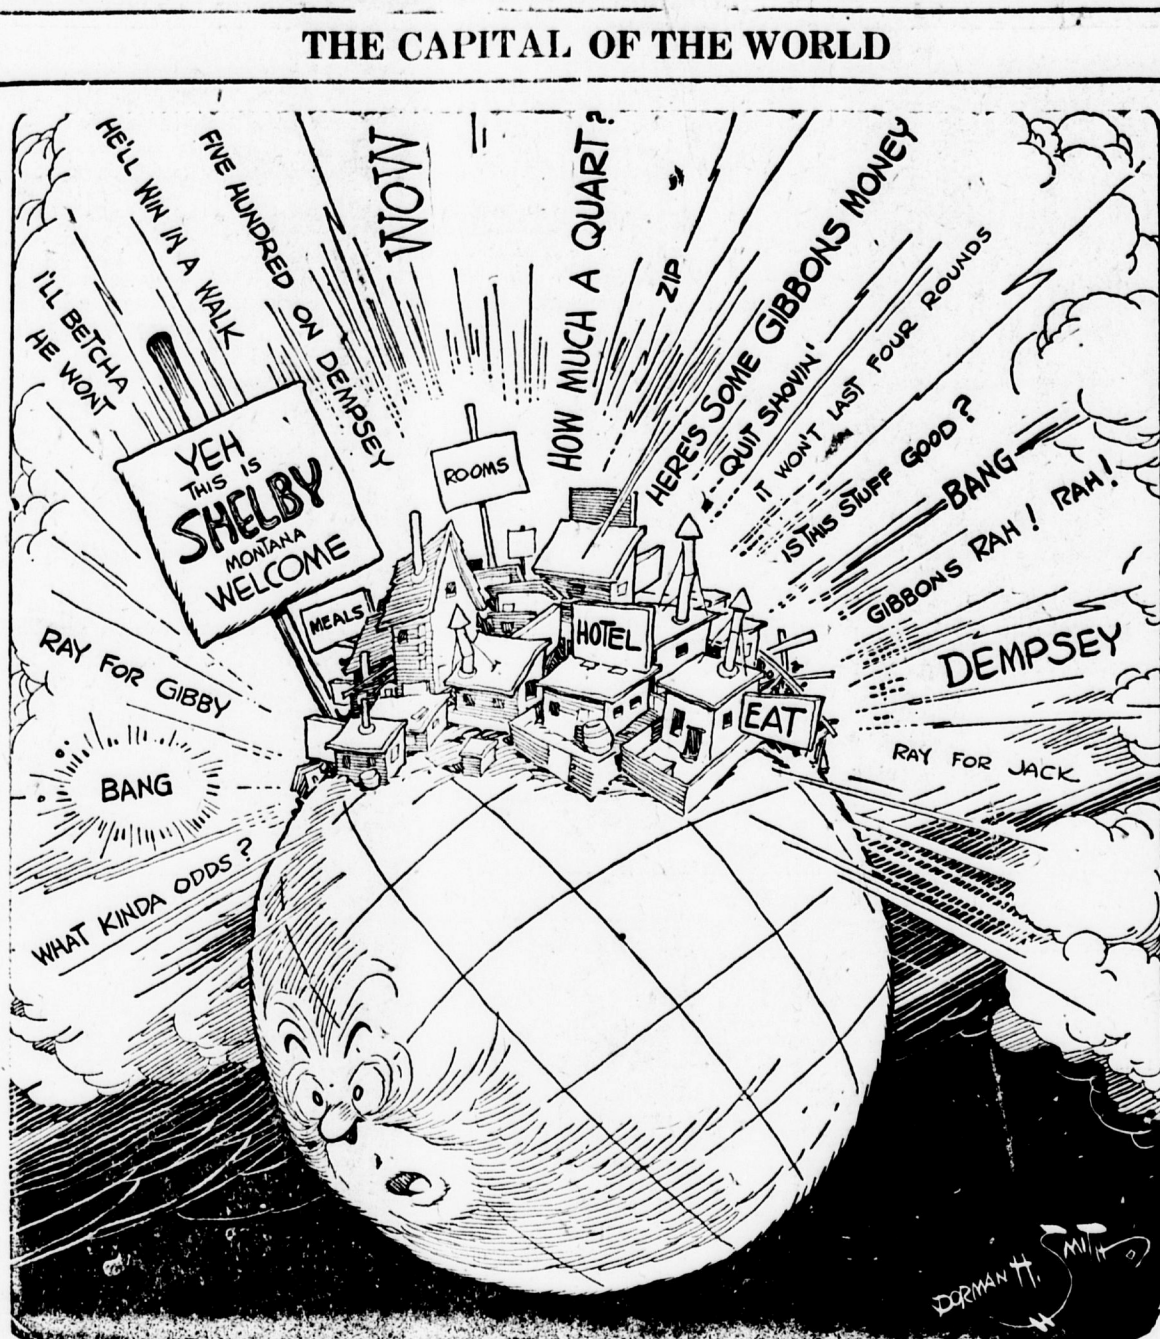

"My goodness, no!" it replied, still more proudly than the others. "What should I be doing with rags? Why don't you ask the common pins? Here's one now."

"Sure I've seen hundreds of rag dolls," said the common pin in a jolly voice. "But no one ever put me in one of them, for fear I'd scratch the babies. Why don't you ask a safety-pin?" So they did.

"Oh, yes, I know Ruby Joan," said the safety-pin. "I pinned one of her arms on once at your house before it was sewed on. But I haven't seen her since. I don't believe she came to Pin Town."

It was time to leave, so the twins went back to the Choo-Choo train. (To Be Continued.)

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, SALLY ATHERTON.

DEAR SALLY: I knew of course that dad would help you over your trouble, for you have always been to him just like one of his own daughters.

He said to me as he handed me this check for two thousand dollars, which I am enclosing:

"You tell that little girl to keep a stiff upper lip and I'll see that she gets through."

"Tell her to send her husband where he will have the care of the best specialists and if she feels that it is too hard for her to keep her position, to throw it up and just turn her attention to that great big foolish boy that she married."

And here, Sally dear, is something that I want to do. Dad gave me also a couple of thousand dollars and I am sending one of them to you. I want you to use this, not for Sam but for yourself, and I am going to ask you to do something that you may think is foolish with it.

I want you to buy a couple of pretty frocks and above all two fifty hats. There is nothing in this world that makes a woman feel quite so much as though she were absolutely friendless as to go around in shabby clothes.

Knowing you as I do, dear Sally, I expect that is just exactly what you are doing at the present moment while you are spending every cent you can rake and scrape to get Sam back where he can see again.

Don't think I am frivolous, dear, or silly to ask you to do this. I know exactly the effect it will have upon your spirits and I also want you to know that I am not one of your fair weather friends. Dad has not only promised me, but told me to write you in this letter that anything you need or want to make you comfortable is yours.

Give my love to Sam. Beatrice Grishaw sent me a letter that he wrote her that was very despairing. He told her he wanted her to tell you to let him go to a charitable institution. Poor old chap! I feel sorry for him.

Why, if Jack were in his condition, I'd work my fingers to the bone and live on a crust of bread before I'd let him do a thing like that and I know it is exactly the same with you.

Of course, dear, we women find lots of fault with our men over trivial things, but when the real sorrows or troubles come, they are our men and it's a case always with the most of us of sticking to the ship however much disabled it might be.

I'm sure, Sally, that everything is coming out all right for you, and dad wants me to tell you—and this part of the letter I want you to read to Sam—that just as soon as he is able, he will give him a position in the steel works.

Until then, please, give your friends the privilege of doing the things for you that they know you would do for them. Lovingly,

LESLIE.

REBORN HERE TODAY. Jenny Pendean engages Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Michael, her husband from his home on Dartmoor.

Pendean is last seen in the company of Robert Redmayne, Jenny's uncle, when the two men go to Michael's new bungalow near Fog-gintor Quarry.

Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and witnesses tell of having seen Robert ride away on his motor bicycle with a heavy sack behind the saddle. The sack is found at a far distance from the scene of mystery.

Jenny goes to live with her uncle Bendigo Redmayne. Brendon visits Bendigo's home and meets Giuseppe Doria, who works there. Bendigo shows Mark a letter supposed to be from Robert Redmayne.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. Mr. Redmayne went back to the house, and Jenny, who stood by them, walked as far as the top of the steps with Brendon.

"Don't think I hear any ill will to this poor wretch," she said. "I'm only heartbroken, that's all. I used to declare in my foolishness that I had escaped the war. But no—it is the war that has killed my dear, dear husband—not Uncle Robert. I see that now."

"It is all so good that you can be so wise," answered Mark quietly. "I admire your splendid patience and courage, Mrs. Pendean, and—and—I would do for you, and will do, everything that wit of man can."

"Thank you, kind friend," she replied. Then she shook his hand and bade him farewell.

"Will you let me know if you leave here?" he asked.

"Yes—since you wish it." The parties and he ran down the steps, scarcely seeing them. He felt that he already loved this woman with his whole soul. The tremendous emotion swept him, while reason and common sense protested.

Mark leaped aboard the waiting motor boat and they were soon speeding back to Dartmouth, while Doria spoke eagerly. But the passenger felt little disposed to gratify the Italian's curiosity. Instead he asked him a few questions respecting himself and found the other delighted to discuss his own affairs. Doria revealed a southern levity and self-satisfaction that furnished Brendon with something to think about before the launch ran to the landing-stage at Dartmouth.

"How comes it you are not back in your own country, now the war is over?" he asked.

"It is because the war is over that I have left my own country, signor," answered Giuseppe. "I fought against Austria on the sea; but now—now Italy is an unhappy place—no home for heroes at present. I am not a common man. I have a great ancestry—the Doria of Dolceacqua in the Alps Maritimes. You have heard of the Doria?"

"I'm afraid not—history isn't my strong suit."

"On the banks of the River Nerva the Doria had their mighty castle and ruled the land of Dolceacqua. A fighting people. There was a Doria who slew the Prince of Monaco. But great families—they are like nations—their history is a sand pile in the hour-glass of time. They arise and crumble by the process of their own development. Still Time gives the hour-glass a shake and they are gone—to the last grain. I am the last grain. We sank and sank till only I remain. My father was a cab driver at Bordighera. He died in the war and my mother, too, is dead. I have no brothers but one sister. She disgraced herself. I know her not. So I am left, and the fate of that so mighty family lies with me alone—a family that once reigned as sovereign princes."

Brendon was sitting beside the boatman in the bows of the launch, and he could not but admire the Italian's amazing good looks. More-over there were mind and ambition revealed in him, coupled with a frank cynicism which appeared in a moment.

"Families have hung on a thread like that sometimes," said Mark; "the thread of a solitary life. Perhaps you are born to revive for-fortunes of your race, Doria?"

"There is no 'perhaps.' I am. I have a good demon who talks to me sometimes. I am 'born for great deeds.' I am very clever—that was needless; I am very clever—that, too, was needless. There is only one thing that stands between me and the ruined castle of my race at Dolceacqua—only one thing. And that is in the world waiting for me."

Brendon laughed.

"Then what are you doing in this motor launch?"

"For what?"

"A woman—a wife, my friend. The one thing needful is a woman—with much money. My face will win her fortune—you understand. That is why I came to England. Italy has no rich heiresses for the present. But I have made a false step here. I must go among the elite. When there is large money. When gold speaks, all tongues are silent."

"You don't deceive yourself?"

"No—I know what I have to market. Women are very attracted by the beauty of my face, signor."

"Are they?"

"It is the type—classical and ancient—that they adore. Why not? Only a fool pretends that he is less than he is. Such a gifted man as I, with the blood of a proud and a noble race in his veins—everything to be desired—romance—and the gift to love as only an Italian loves—such a man must find a very splendid rich girl. It is only a matter of time."

Charles Goodyear of New Haven, Conn., discovered how to vulcanize rubber in January, 1830.

Inspector Halfyard, who had followed the case as closely as it was possible, was doing so in vain. On Bendigo, the brother of the vanished assassin.

"He delayed of set purpose," vowed Halfyard, "and then two days may make just all the difference. Now the murderer's in France, if not Spain."

"Full particulars have been circulated," explained Brendon, but the inspector attached no importance to that fact.

"We know how often foreign police catch a runaway," he said. "This is no ordinary runaway, however. I still prefer to regard him as insane."

"In that case he'd have been taken before now. And that makes what was simple before more and more of a puzzle in my opinion. I don't believe that the man was mad. I believe he was and is all there; and that being so, you've got to begin over again, Brendon, and find why he did it. Once grant that this was a deliberately planned murder and a mighty, sight cleverer than it looked at first sight, then you've got to ferret back into the past and find what motives Redmayne had for doing it."

But Brendon was not convinced.

"I can't agree with you," he answered. "I've already pursued that theory, but it is altogether too fantastic. We know, from impartial testimony, that the men were the best of friends up to the moment they left Princetown together on Redmayne's motor bicycle the night of the trouble."

"What impartial testimony? You can't call Mrs. Pendean's evidence impartial."

"Why not? I feel very certain that it is; but I'm speaking now of what I heard at Paignton from Miss Flora Reed, who was engaged to Robert Redmayne. She said that her betrothed wrote indicating his complete change of opinion, and he also told her that he had asked his niece and her husband to Paignton for the regatta."

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

A FAIR EXAMPLE

Wednesday morning session of the city commission was a fair example of the kind of bargaining and bickering this city can expect unless the new water works system is owned down to the last unit. A. P. Lenhart, president of the city commission, and his fellow members of the board made it plain that they desire a complete city owned water works plant whose efficiency and success no private utility can match or impede.

It is a wise precaution to consider carefully the type of pumps and engines to install for Bismarck is not acting for today but for several decades ahead. If expensive pumping equipment can be eliminated at the pump house and a steamer employed to boost pressure at the hydrant that is the action to take.

Commissioner Henzler's position is logical as is City Engineer Atkinson's in urging adequate fire protection under the new water system plans. Now that the city is to operate its own plant, it is necessary to work out a plan that will protect the water consumers against excessive pressure against their plumbing. The only solution now seems to be the purchase of adequate equipment at an actual saving to the city in expensive fire pumps at the river which will not give the efficiency a fire engine will.

After the announcement of Mr. Lenhart at yesterday's session there should be no further controversy over the installation of a city owned power plant as an integral part of the water works system.

If it costs Bismarck as much to generate the power as the Hughes Electric company offers to supply current, it would be better for the city to do the job itself so as to be free from state interference. Mr. Hughes knows that under the present law he cannot make any contract with the city without the approval of the state commission. It is subterfuge of the most apparent kind for him to offer a rate lower than what the state commission has fixed as compensatory. Talk of putting up a bond is immaterial also and beside the point for no bond will protect the city against state interference. These attacks merely seek to defeat complete city ownership of the water works system to protect the private interests of one corporation.

At present there is a strong demand for the city to light its own streets and public buildings by installing two units of Diesel engines. There is no question but what the city can save $1,000 a month for the taxpayers by so doing, but there is a disposition to move slowly in this matter in establishing one unit for pumping the water to ascertain beyond a doubt what the actual cost in fact will be. If the economy is as great as anticipated then will be the time to install the other unit to take on the additional load.

If the local power utility continues to throw obstacles in the way of complete city ownership of the water system the reaction will be so strong that the city commission will be asked to take over the street lighting and the lighting of the schools and public buildings immediately. The fable of the dog and the shadow could be read with profit by the small clique displeased at the solution of the water controversy and who now seek to keep the city embroiled in a fight that has and is now militating against the best interests of Bismarck.

Of course it is too much to expect the local power utility to be enthusiastic over city ownership of any utility-failing in preventing that the next logical step for them is to prevent it from being a success. That is the point of attack but as the citizens' committee and the commission are aware of the danger the interests of the people of Bismarck should be safe.

Let there be no deviation from the policy of complete city ownership of the water system. It is not so much a matter of cost but one of supreme importance to the welfare of all the people.

WHAT IS NOT FOR THE GOOD OF THE WHOLE COMMUNITY IS NOT GOOD FOR THE CITY.

You may have noticed that not as many cellars are lighted up, late at night, as last year or the one before. Less home-brew is being made. "Too much fuss and nuisance, not worth the bother." The wine-er, vintage of 1923, will be scant.

Prohibition is "getting" us gradually, all right. It'll take time—20 to 30 years, we believe, was the "bone-dry" estimate of some government experts when prohibition was written into the national law. By the way, have you been keeping an eye on some of the old soaks who, too wise to drink bootleg poison, have crawled on the wagon?

CRIME

The former head of Scotland Yard detectives, Sir Basil Thomson, toured our country recently. Back home in London, he blames our crime waves on uncertain and feeble working of our laws (loopholes and too much elasticity) rather than on courts or police. He also thinks we do not have enough cops.

Is it possible that our laws, except where free speech or property rights are concerned, are too democratic? We are so strict with the rabbits that we overlook the wolves.

OLDEST

The American flamingo bird, which science says has been living on earth 350,000 years, is in danger of extinction. Their largest colony, in the Bahamas, is disappearing rapidly because the natives consider them "good eating." National bird societies are "all het up" about it.

Nature apparently is through with the flamingo and is crossing it off her list. Worth while to argue with her?

FEAR

Flightless birds and other strange jungle creatures arrive, whole shipload, at New York Zoological Gardens. They come from islands 800 miles off the coast of Ecuador. Their captors were most impressed with the wild creatures' lack of fear.

There was nothing for them to be afraid of. They had not yet encountered the most dangerous beast, man.

Things could be worse. Suppose July Fourth was Christmas and you had to dress as Santa Claus?

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next station in Choo-Choo Land was Pin Town.

It was about the queerest of all the queer places the Twins had been to. Every kind of pin was there.

"I think this is a good place to look for your lost doll," said Nick. "She was so ragged she may have come here to get pinned up."

"Poor dear!" Nancy couldn't help saying. "Here comes a clothes-pin I'll ask."

"Please, did you see Ruby Joan?" asked Nancy. "She was a rag doll and wore a patchwork dress and polka-dot stockings."

"A rag doll?" said the clothes-pin. "No, I didn't see her. I've only worked in the best of families. The clothes I pinned on the line every week were as fine as silk. No rags, I tell you! Everything lace and embroidery!"

The proud clothes-pin passed on, and a tall hat-pin came along.

"Did you see a rag doll anywhere?" asked Nancy.

"I have pinned hats on princesses and Queens," said the hat-pin proudly, "but never on a doll—much less a rag doll. No, I haven't seen her."

And it passed on.

Then along came a gold pin.

"Did you see anything of a rag doll?" asked Nancy.

The gold pin stopped.

"My goodness, no!" it replied, still more proudly than the others.

"What should I be doing with rags? Why don't you ask the common pins? Here's one now."

"Sure I've seen hundreds of rag dolls," said the common pin in a jolly voice. "But no one ever put me in one of them, for fear I'd scratch the babies. Why don't you ask a safety-pin?" So they did.

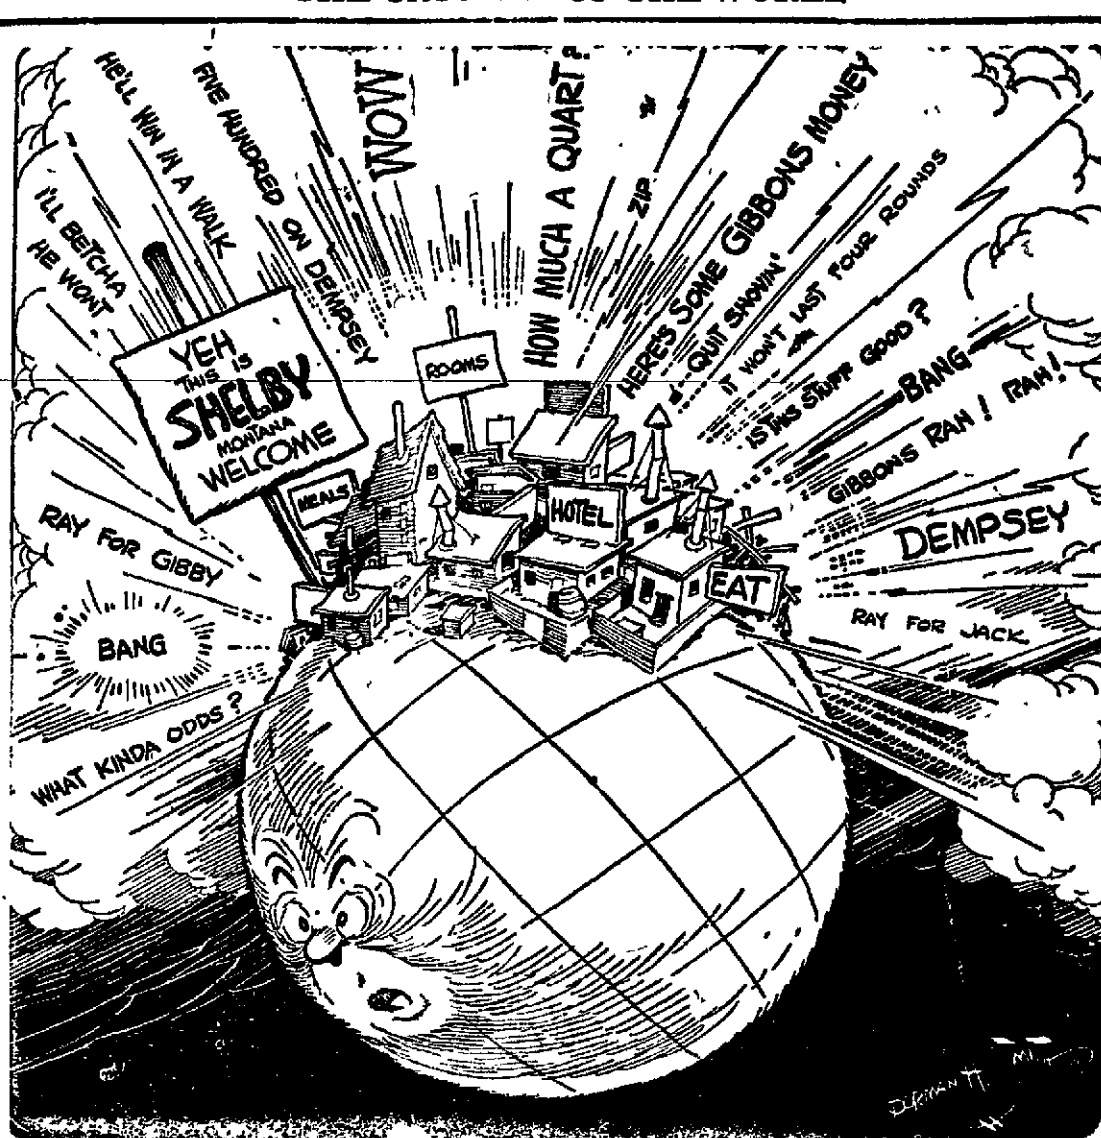

"Oh, yes, I know Ruby Joan," said the safety-pin. "I pinned one of her arms on once at your house before it was sewed on. But I haven't seen her since. I don't believe she came to Pin Town."

It was time to leave, so the Twins went back to the Choo-Choo train.

THE CAPITAL OF THE WORLD

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, SALLY ATHONTON.

DEAR SALLY:

I know of course that dad would help you over your trouble, for you have always been to him just like one of his own daughters.

He said to me as he handed me this check for two thousand dollars, which I am enclosing:

"You tell that little girl to keep a stiff upper lip and I'll see that she gets through."

"Tell her to send her husband where he will have the care of the best specialists and if she feels that it is too hard for her to keep her position, to throw it up and just turn her attention to that great big foolish boy that she married."

And here, Sally dear, is something that I want to do. Dad gave me also a couple of thousand dollars and I am sending one of them to you. I want you to use this not for Sam but for yourself, and I am going to ask you to do something that you may think is foolish with it.

I want you to buy a couple of pretty frocks and above all two nifty hats. There is nothing in this world that makes a woman feel quite so much as though she were absolutely friendless as to go around in shabby clothes.

Knowing you as I do, dear Sally, I expect that is just exactly what you are doing at the present moment while you are spending every cent you can rake and scrape to get Sam back where he can see again.

Don't think I am frivolous, dear, or silly to ask you to do this. I know exactly the effect it will have upon your spirits and I also want you to know that I am not one of your fair weather friends. Dad has not only promised me, but told me to write you in this letter that anything you need or want to make you comfortable is yours.

Give my love to Sam. Beatrice Grimsby sent me a letter that he wrote her that was very despairing. He told her he wanted her to tell you to let him go to a charitable institution. Poor old chap! I feel sorry for him.

Why, if Jack were in his condition, I'd work my fingers to the bone and live on a crust of bread before I'd let him do a thing like that and I know it is exactly the same with you.

Of course, dear, we women find lots of fault with our men over trivial things, but when the real sorrows or troubles come, they are our men and it's a law, always with the most of us, of sticking to the ship however much disabled it might be.

I'm sure, Sally, that everything is coming out all right for you, and dad wants me to tell you—and this part of the letter I want you to read to Sam—that just as soon as he is able, he will give him a position in the steel works.

Until then, please, give your friends the privilege of doing the things for you that they know you would do for them. Lovingly, LESLIE.

question of patience. But such a treasure will not be found with this old sea wolf. He is not of long descent. I did not know. I should have seen him and his little mean hole first before coming to him. I advertise again and get into a high or atmosphere."

Brendon found his thoughts wholly occupied with Jenny Pendean. Was it within the bounds of possibility that she, as time passed to dim her sufferings and sense of loss, might look twice at this extraordinary being? He wondered, but thought it improbable. Moreover the last of the Dorias evidently aimed at greater position and greater wealth than Michael Pendean's widow had to offer. Mark found himself despising the extraordinary creature, who violated so frankly and cheerfully every English standard of reserve and modesty. Yet the other's self-possession and sense of his own value in the market impressed him.

He was glad to give Doris five shillings and leave him at the landing-stage. But none the less Giuseppe haunted his imagination. One might dislike his arrogance, or rejoice in his physical beauty, but to escape his vitality and the electric force of him was impossible.

Brendon soon reached the police station and hastened to communicate with Plymouth, Paignton, and Princeton. To the last place he sent a special direction and told Inspector Halfyard to visit Mrs. Gerry at Station Cottages and make a careful examination of the room which Robert Redmayne had there occupied.

CHAPTER V
Robert Redmayne Is Seen

A sense of unreality impressed itself upon Mark Brendon after this stage in his inquiry. A time was coming when the false atmosphere in which he moved would be blown away by a stronger mind and a greater genius than his own; but already he found himself dimly conscious that some fundamental error had launched him along the wrong road, that he was groping in a blind alley and had missed the only path leading toward reality.

From Paignton on the following morning Brendon proceeded to Plymouth and directed a strenuous and close inquiry. But he knew well enough that he was probably too late and judged with certainty that if Robert Redmayne still lived, he would no longer be in England. Next he turned to Princeton, that he might go over the ground again even while appreciating the futility of so doing. But the routine had to be observed. The impressions of naked feet on the sand were carefully protected. They proved too indefinite to be distinguished, but he satisfied himself that they represented the footprints of two men, if not three. He remembered that Robert Redmayne had spoken of bathing in the pools and he strove to prove forceful separate pairs of feet, but could not.

Inspector Halfyard, who had followed the case as closely as it was possible to do so, cast all blame on Bendigo, the brother of the vanished assassin.

"He delayed of set purpose," vowed Halfyard, "and then two days may make just as the difference. Now the murderer's in France, if not Spain."

"Particulars have been circulated," explained Brendon, but the inspector attached no importance to that fact.

"We know how often foreign police catch a runaway," he said. "This is no ordinary runaway, however. I still prefer to regard him as insane."

"In that case he'd have been taken before now. And that makes what was simple before more and more a puzzle in my opinion. I don't believe that the man was mad. I believe he was and is all there; and that being so, you've got to begin over again, Brendon, and find why he did it. Once grant that this was a deliberately planned murder and a mighty, slight cleverer than it looked at first sight, then you've got to ferret back into the past and find what motives Redmayne had for doing it."

Brendon was not convinced. "I can't agree with you," he answered. "I've already pursued that theory, but it is altogether too fantastic. We know, from impartial testimony, that the men were the best of friends up to the moment they left Princeton together on Redmayne's motor bicycle the night of the trouble."

"What impartial testimony? You can't call Mrs. Pendean's evidence impartial."

"Why not? I feel very certain that it is; but I'm speaking now of what I heard at Paignton from Miss Flora Reed, who was engaged to Robert Redmayne. She said that her betrothed wrote indicating his complete change of opinion, and he also told her that he had asked his niece and her husband to Paignton for the regatta."

Great Falls, Mont., June 28.—Prospects of holding the Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship on July 4 today revolved around Jack Kearns, manager of the world champion, who returned to Great Falls bringing with him Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, treasurer of the American Legion committee promoting the championship battle.

The resignation of Dan Tracy, pioneer Great Falls mining man and hotel owner, from the position of the business manager of the fight, cast a dark shadow over the situation, with the prospects of meeting the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee very remote.

Tracy resigned last night without warning to promoters of his decision. He said he had been unable to make any headway toward collecting $17,000 subscribed by Great Falls business men to complete the installment.

Mayor Johnson of Shelby, who already had personally sunk a fortune of $150,000 in the venture, declared the retirement of Tracy would not interfere in any way with holding the fight and that plans to bring the champion and challenger together July 4 would go forward without interruption. Johnson declared he was prepared to personally guarantee the final payment due Dempsey, backing his statement with the assertion that he had property valued at $350,000 which he would pledge if necessary.

The impression prevailed today that unless Kearns decided to "go along" with Mayor Johnson of Shelby any gamble for the $100,000 due him the show could not possibly be held. The money is not due Kearns until Monday, 48 hours before the champion is due to go into the ring.

Dempsey, it is known, is ready to fight Gibbons for the $200,000 he already has received, but his wishes in this regard are not given much consideration because of his inclination to abide by the final decision of Manager Kearns. Kearns, previous to Tracy's resignation, declared he would not allow Dempsey to go into the ring unless he received the full $300,000 due him.

GETTING READY

Mike McTigue has begun training at Babylon, L. I., for a return bout with Battling Siki, from whom he won the light heavyweight championship. The match is scheduled to be staged in Dublin in September.

RYAN PITCHES WELL

Jamestown and Bismarck play this evening and tomorrow evening at 6:15 p. m. The Saturday game will be called at 3 p. m. to allow the teams to catch a train for Jamestown where they play Sunday.

Visiting bankers and folks in Ford day were treated to a nice game of baseball in the local park last evening, made a bit bitter for the home fans because Jamestown took it by a 5 to 4 score. The two teams met in twilight games tonight, Friday and Saturday.

"Lefty" Ryan, the tow-head of the New Rockford-Carrington club, appeared in the box for Jamestown, having been obtained in a trade for Pitcher Cantin. New Rockford-Carrington got Southpaw Kinney from Minn. on the staff, while Jamestown needed a good southpaw. From the way Ryan went last night he is a good southpaw. He conquered his wildness somewhat, allowing but one base on balls.

Joe Day, the Indian pitcher, went in the box for Bismarck for the first time, and didn't do bad. He fanned eight, but passed four, in addition to the hits. Faster fielding might have cut off some of the runs and changed the score.

The Capitals scored first. In the second inning Bernier was passed. Zart was safe on Wingfield's high throw to first. Dougan smashed a hot one at Chenoweth and all hands were safe. With the bases loaded, Tom Shanley singled past the first sack and Bernier and Zart scored. Dougan going to third. Dougan scored on Nord's sacrifice fly. Day fanned.

Bismarck scored once more in the eighth. Day singled. Condon fanned. Randall went out on a grounder. Felix Fly helped his friend Joe Day by driving a single through the box and scoring him. Bernier fanned. Jamestown scored two in the third. Clark dropped a Texas Leaguer in center. Ryan fanned. Hildren's fly was allowed to drop in short center. Meier was out on a high one to Shanley. Chenoweth singled to left and Clark scored. Wingfield singled to left and Hildren scored. With Chenoweth on third and Wingfield on first.

In the fifth Hildren walked after Ryan fanned. Meier singled past second. Hildren going to third and Bernier taking second on the throw-in. Chenoweth hit to short and Condon elected to throw him out at first; Hildren scoring. Wingfield scored. Meier.

Boardman replaced Zart in the third after the latter hurt a finger. Boardman took left and Bernier went over to center. The box score:

FOR 1ST PLACEAbsorbing Series Opens Today Between Two Leading Teams

Chicago, June 28.—Two series of absorbing interest in the major leagues today, one at the Yankee stadium between New York and Philadelphia for first place in the American League and the other at Forbes field between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati for second place in the National League. The former is of four and the latter of three contests.

The Reds are but two games behind the Pirates while the Athletics are only five games behind the Yanks. The Pirates are incidentally four and a half games behind the New York Giants.

The Giants won their nine straight, 15 to 9, in 11 innings, making seven runs in their final turn at bat.

Frankie Frisch, the "Fordham flash," contributed two hits, the second his 100th of the season, making him the first player in the majors to reach the century mark this season.

Up against sterner stuff than that the Pirates have shown good form, yesterday marking their fourth straight victory over St. Louis, 6 to 0, giving them a clean sweep of the series there as the Giants made up their last visit. Philadelphia fell a victim before Brooklyn, 15 to 5, in their opener of their renewal.

It was an open day in the American League. Detroit and St. Louis will battle today for last place in the first division and Chicago will try to dispel the shadow that has made Cleveland look like a dark horse, while Boston and Washington struggle over last place.

WATCH BREAKERS,
DEALER URGES

The vigorous manner in which police departments all over the country are checking up automobile brakes is good evidence of the important part that brakes play in the nation's safety.

In many large cities and in hundreds of smaller ones, motorists are being stopped on the streets and put through driving tests. If the test develops that the brakes do not grip evenly or quickly, the officer orders the driver to have them adjusted. If they function satisfactorily, the driver is given a windshield sticker certifying to the good condition of his brakes and thus saving him the annoyance of another halt and another inspection.

"These inspections are an excellent thing," said M. B. Gilman, the local Dodge Brothers dealer, "and should be made regularly and universally."

WHEAT PRICE IS LIFTED

Scantiness of Country Offerings Helps Price on Mart

Chicago, June 28.—Aggressive buying together with scantiness of country offerings gave a decided lift to prices of wheat today during the early dealings. The buying was based chiefly on estimates that in the last two days as much as 4,000,000 bushels in future deliveries had been taken for seaboard accounts. The fact that Liverpool quotations virtually failed outright to reflect yesterday's sharp setback here was an additional bullish influence.

Opening prices which ranged from 1/2 cent to 1/4 cent higher were followed by some further gains.

Chicago Livestock. Chicago, June 28.—Hog receipts: 46,000. Mostly 10 to 20 cents lower than Wednesday's average. Top $7.30.

Cattle receipts 9,000. Most killing classes about steady. Underweight weak on plainer kinds. Relatively few fat steers or yearlings here of value to sell about $10.50. Bulk $8.50 to $10.00. Veal calves strong to 25 cents higher. Bulk to packers $9.00 to $9.50.

Sheep receipts 10,000. Lambs steady to strong. Top native lambs $15.50. Sheep scarce, steady. Fat ewes mostly $5.00 to $5.50.

Cows $5.50 to $7.50. Grass fed at heifers mostly $5.00 to $7.00. Cannons and cutters $2.00 to $3.00. Bologna hogs $3.25 to $4.25. Stockers and feeders steady to weak. Calves receipts 3,000. Steady to 25 cents higher. Best lights mostly $8.25 to $8.50.

Hog receipts 10,700. Very slow. Weak to around 25 cents lower. Few loads good to choice lights and butchers to shippers; $6.50 to $6.99. Packing sows mostly $5.25 to $5.50. Bulk pigs $6.50.

DEMPESEY-GIBBONS FIGHT CHANGING BALANCE

JACK KEARNS WILL DECIDE BIG QUESTION

Payment of Final $100,000 to Dempsey on Guarantee Is Stumbling Block

MAYOR IS READY

Shelby Boss Says That He Will Dig Up Entire Amount If Necessary

Great Falls, Mont., June 23.—Preparations for holding the Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship on July 4 today revolved around Jack Kearns, manager of the world champion, who returned to Great Falls bringing with him Mayor Jim Johnson of Shelby, treasurer of the American Legion committee promoting the championship battle.

The resignation of Dan Tracy, pioneer Great Falls mining man and hotel owner, from the position of the business manager of the fight, cast a dark shadow over the situation, with the prospects of meeting the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee very remote.

Tracy resigned last night without warning to promoters of his decision. He said he had been unable to make any headway toward collecting $17,000 subscribed by Great Falls business men to complete the installment.

Mayor Johnson of Shelby, who already had personally sunk a fortune of $100,000 in the venture, declared the payment of Tracy would not interfere in any way with holding the fight and that plans to bring the champion and challenger together July 4 would go forward without interruption. Johnson declared he was prepared to personally guarantee the final payment due Dempsey, backing his statement with the assertion that he had property valued at $350,000 which he would pledge if necessary.

The impression prevailed today that unless Kearns decided to "go along" with Mayor Johnson of Shelby and enable for the $100,000 due him the show could not possibly be held. The money is not due Kearns until Monday, 48 hours before the championship is due to go into the ring.

Dempsey, it is known, is ready to fight Gibbons for the $200,000 he already has received, but his wishes in this regard are not given much consideration because of his inclination to abide by the final decision of Manager Kearns. Kearns, previous to Tracy's resignation, declared he would not allow Dempsey to go into the ring unless he received the full $300,000 due him.

Visiting bankers and folks in for Ford day were treated to a nice game of baseball in the local park last evening, made a bit bitter for the home fans because Jamestown took it by a 5 to 4 score. The two teams met in twilight games tonight, Friday and Saturday.

"Lefty" Ryan, the tow-head of the New Rockford-Carrington club, appeared in the box for Jamestown, having been obtained in a trade for Pitcher Cantin. New Rockford-Carrington got Southpaw Kinney from Minot who had too many left-handers on the staff, while Jamestown needed a good southpaw. From the way Ryan went last night he is a good southpaw. He conquered his wildness somewhat, allowing but one base on balls.

Joe Day, the Indian pitcher, went in the box for Bismarck for the first time, and didn't do bad. He fanned eight, but passed four, in addition to the hit. Faster fielding might have cut off some of the runs and changed the score.

The Capitals scored first. In the second inning Bernier was passed. Zart was safe on Wingfield's high throw to first. Dougan smashed a hot one at Chenoweth and all hands were safe. With the bases loaded, Tom Shanley singled past the first base and Bernier and Zart scored. Dougan going to third. Dougan scored on Nord's sacrifice fly. Day fanned.

Bismarck scored once more in the eighth. Day singled. Condon fanned. Randall went out on a grounder. Felix Fly helped his friend Joe Day by driving a single through the box and scoring him. Bernier fanned. Jamestown scored two in the third. Clark dropped a Texas Leaguer in center. Ryan fanned. Hildren's fly was allowed to drop in short center. Meier was out on a high one to Shanley. Chenoweth singled to left and Clark scored. Wingfield singled to left and Hildren scored. With Chenoweth on third and Wingfield on second Whiting grounded out to first.

ATHLETICS AND YANKS FIGHT FOR 1ST PLACE

Absorbing Series Opens Today Between Two Leading Teams

Sees Brighter Future

Arising in U. S.

Chicago, June 23.—Two series of absorbing interest in the major leagues today, one at the Yankee stadium between New York and Philadelphia for first place in the American League and the other at Forbes field between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati for second place in the National League. The former is of four and the latter of three contests.

The Reds are but two games behind the Pirates while the Athletics are only five games behind the Yanks. The Pirates are incidentally four and a half games behind the New York Giants.

The Giants won their nine straight, 15 to 9, in 11 innings, making seven runs in their final turn at bat. Frankie Frisch, the "Fordham flash," contributed two hits, the second his 100th of the season, making him the first player in the majors to reach the century mark this season.

Upstart owner, Sam Hays, said that the Pirates have shown good form, yesterday marking their fourth straight victory over St. Louis, 6 to 0, giving them a clean sweep of the series there as the Giants made on their last visit. Philadelphia fell a victim before Brooklyn, 15 to 5, in their opener of their renewal.

It was an open day in the American League. Detroit and St. Louis will battle today for last place in the first division and Chicago will try to dislodge the shadow that has made Cleveland look like dark horse, while Boston and Washington struggle over last places.

Sees Brighter Future Arising in U. S. (Continued From Page One) Ities, excluding real estate and investments as collateral, there was unequal expansion in credit activities, though farm loans expanded after the federal land bank system began its work.

The earnings of the railroads were stimulated by increasing costs of great tonnage, yet increasing costs of operation became more apparent from aggressive demands of labor organizations and increased cost of material, while adverse legislation lowered passenger fares unreasonably, and the sixteen hour law by La Follette as well as other encroachments increased operating costs and demoralized freight traffic.

The enactment of the Adamson railroad law restricting and doling away with the right and principle of individual initiative and executive responsibility in the management of railroad property.

He traced rising costs on the railroads, which, he said, had developed the western country through low transportation rates.

"We all, including the farmer, need lower costs for material and operating expenses," he said. "Many insist on lowering freight and passenger rates but first it is not necessary to free the railroads from the incubus of socialism and bureaucracy and return the properties to private control in fact as well as in name?" Mr. Phelan traced most of the financial ills to over-inflation during the war. He regretted that the thing he had not had a Houston, Glascock or a Callaghan as secretary of the treasury calling William G. McAdoo "extraneous."

"Pyramiding generosity and extravagance for five years and attempting to defeat in a fraction of the time was neither rational nor expedient," he said. "The farmers have had much sympathy and deserve much, but the farmers' distress has been over-advertised as compared with other sufferers."

U. S. MAY SEIZE FOREIGN SHIPS OFFICIAL HINT

Reluctant to Enforce Seizure Provision, But Problem

NEW SHIPS IN PORT

Many More Bringing Liquor
Into American Waters
Under Government Seal

Washington, June 28.—The increasing number of foreign ships which are docking in American waters with more liquor than is allowed under the supreme court ruling has brought government officials to the point of considering application of considering provisions of the Volstead act for seizure of foreign vessels.

An announcement of the government's decision on the question has not been made but officials are said to feel the present situation cannot be tolerated much longer. If decision is made to put into effect the seizure requirement of the Volstead act, which is said to have been drafted, adequate notice will be given to foreign governments, it is understood.

Reluctance to invoke the enforcement law's ship seizure provision is explained by officials as being due to desire to avoid serious international dispute, to give the shipping lines a chance to determine in their courts whether they have a right to bring into American waters liquor under seal of their government. No test case has been brought and it is believed a seizure of a ship would result in an early decision on the problem.

BORAH AGREES WITH HARDING DECLARATION

Pocatello, Ida., June 28.—Senator Borah who has from time to time criticized the administration on the world war court proposal as presented to the senate last February met the president at Cache Junction, Utah, and in a statement to newspaper men said that he felt the position of the president as set forth in his St. Louis speech was generally agreeable to the people of the country as well as to the Republican party. "As I understand the President's position," said Borah, "he believes the League of Nations dead so far as any participation of the United States is concerned. I am in entire agreement with the conclusion of Mr. Harding that any world court in which the United States may join cannot be connected with the League of Nations."

Siox Falls, S. D., June 28.—Following service of warrants on William O. Knight, federal prohibition director for South Dakota, and W. C. Reports at once arose that the complainant, John Neary, would proceed to file new complaints. The hearing occupied less than 10 minutes.

LIVING 100 YEARS

Medical authorities claim that we should live to be a hundred years old and can do so when we know how to live. They say there is no doubt about it. Further, they add that we shall be so radiant with health and energy that to fall sick will be to fall from grace.

In other words, the secret rests in our ability to learn the fine art of living properly. Bathing is an important step in this direction and it has time and again been proven that persons who bathe properly and frequently have been greatly benefited in health and energy.

The subject of bathing has been given much thought and in the last few years medical and health authorities have found much fault with the old-time tub bath and advocated the use of the shower bath instead. In using the shower, the body is cleaned in a refreshing stream of clean water at just the right temperature. No dirty water touches the body or accumulates in the tub.

The Fuller Friction Shower is used in thousands of homes. It is one of the forty-five personal and household brushes sold by the Fuller Man. All of these are brushes of real quality and service backed by the Fuller guarantee. They are demonstrated and sold in the homes by the Fuller Man. Next time the Fuller Man calls ask him to show you this wonderful shower brush.

STEINMETZ? NO! KALENIN!

At first glance one might think that this is the familiar picture of Steinmetz, the electrical wizard, at work. It's Kalenin, one of the leaders of the Russian Soviet, at work on a timber for a farm building. He works at manual labor when not making laws.

THE U. S. A. GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM TO DEFEND, FIGHT FOR, SAYS SPEAKER

"I would rather be a citizen of the U. S. A. than a Soviet of Russia," said Dr. William Arthur Garrison, president of Cairo College, Waukesha, Wis., in an address on "Saving the Day for the U. S. A." at the morning's session of the Bankers convention.

"I would rather be the husband of one wife in Wisconsin than of twenty wives in Turkey," continued Dr. Garrison. "I would rather be a white man in America than a black man in Africa or a yellow man in China. I would rather live in the U. S. A. where at any time before this is a great day in which to be alive," declared the speaker in introducing his subject.

He declared that the student of American history of the future would learn that the present period of this country was the most important, the most critical in the entire history of the human race. The history of civilization, its rise in the ancient days and its gradual passing to the west was described and commented upon by the speaker. The fact that nations like people must always be born, cry through the period of their youth, develop in the period of manhood, slip down through declining years and pass out of sight was commented upon. He declared that "the greatest element of human worth is mind. America will never fail unless Americans fail."

The speaker continued his address with the following: "Let me remind you today that it is my solemn conviction that this country of ours never could have become the world's leading power had our forefathers failed to give us the great republican type of government. I concede the importance of careful study, thoughtful revision, as well as loyal defense, but I assert to you that no man has any right to undermine and certainly none have any right to leadership who whether in times of war or peace evidenced by work or deed any act of disloyalty to the Constitution or the flag or the government of these United States. The whole history of government from the beginning of time to 1789 is one of experiment and failure, from 1789 to 1900 one of development and service, from 1900 to this very day are being rapidly sown the seeds of decay. Any man who loves his country and any man who loves his fellow man and lives between the two great seas might better today be on his knees thanking Almighty God for the country in which we live and the blessings which we enjoy, rather than making attacks upon the institutions that have done so much to make our nation great.

"Among the great social institutions, I speak of the American school. Mr. Madison was right when he said, 'A democracy like ours is safe only when the people possess the power which knowledge alone can give.' A monarch may never can. Whatsoever you would put into the state, you must first put into the schools. The fate of the future rests with the molders of the nation's ideals. Let me shape the ideals of the American classroom for thirty-three years, and I will fix American character for a century. As goes the American school-room, so goes America. "As goes American so goes the world. There are seven hundred thousand of us in the school-rooms of America today—quite an army of women and men. We hold the destiny of the world in our grasp.

"The second thing I would like to say to my fellow teachers and you is this. Let us banish illiteracy, let us rid the world of ignorance, let us help the world to know the truth, the right and the good, in order that they may choose the truth and the right and the good. "In closing let me urge that we conserve, develop, utilize wisely and well all these resources that make a nation great."

MUST SUSPEND PROPOSED RATE BOOST ON OIL

Washington, June 28.—Western railroads were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to suspend until October 29 new freight rate schedules on petroleum products moving from Kansas and Oklahoma, the producing points, to South Dakota and western Nebraska, consuming territory.

The new rates would have gone into effect July 1 and would have almost doubled the existing rates on crude fuel and gas oil.

Samples of the changes proposed as given by the commission showed that rates on oil from Kansas and

Oklahoma to Rapid City, Deadwood and other South Dakota points are at present 54 cents per hundred pounds but would have been increased to .02 and $1.06 per hundred pounds.
